Summit Preparations

Eisenhower Will Try To Learn Khrushchev's Actual Intention

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower intends to make a determined effort next month to find out whether Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev really wants to come to terms on any major East-West issue.

Officials said Friday this is Eisenhower's central purpose in approaching the Big Four summit conference with Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain. It will guide Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in a series of meetings here next week with Allied foreign ministers on summit preparations.

Herter is expected to tell his allies during the three days of strategy talks that the Western powers must be ready for any grandstand plays by Khrushchev. His aim would be to put the West on the defensive and seize the initiative in the propaganda battle that will be a big part of the conference.

Khrushchev's possible spectacular moves, officials believe, may include a new disarmament proposal and some declaration about scrapping the Soviet-bloc Warsaw Pact, the Red counterpart of NATO.

The stage was set for a Khrushchev move on disarmament when East and West agreed Friday to recess the 10-nation arms conference now under way at Geneva. The recess will begin late this month and run until June. This decision to suspend the conference effectively canceled hope that some progress might be made on disarmament prior to the summit.

Eisenhower's main interest is reported to lie not in the formal Big Four meetings which will start at Paris May 16 but in the small private talks where personal diplomacy may be employed to best advantage.

The President himself told a news conference 10 days ago he looked forward to some informal sessions with Khrushchev, Macmillan and De Gaulle.

Behind his interest in these small and secret talks is a considerable puzzlement in official quarters here—apparently shared by the President—over Khrushchev's actual intention. Some officials believe, for example, that he would like to make a first-step deal on disarmament. Herter is among these, and Eisenhower evidently thinks there is some chance.

Herter Denounces Recess Agreement Made By Eaton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter denounced Saturday a recess agreement made by his own disarmament negotiator at Geneva. But he said that since the deed was done he would let it stand.

Herter's statement came close to being a rebuke for Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton, New York lawyer and board member of many banking and industrial firms, who is a newcomer to big time diplomacy.

Some State Department officials said privately that Herter did not intend the statement to be a rebuke or reprimand. Others equally familiar with the circumstances said there could be no doubt that a declaration by the secretary of state deploring an agreement Eaton announced Saturday morning was a slap for the man in Geneva.

The agreement provides for about a five-week recess in the 10-nation Geneva disarmament conference until after the summit meeting at Paris in late May.

Herter's statement came as the climax of a series of comments which indicate at the least some kind of breakdown in communications between him and Eaton.

Herter told a news conference Friday that the Soviet Union was seeking a long recess in the Geneva disarmament talks, beginning well before and running until after the summit conference which opens May 16. Herter also declared emphatically that he saw no reason for a long recess but would be willing to accept a short one.

Indications are that at the time Herter was speaking Eaton may already have commited himself to a long recess. Herter aides who have followed the reports from Geneva in detail said that the deal on the suspension of negotiations was made in the last day or so. The length of the recess was the point picked out by Herter Saturday for attack.

"I personally believe the recess is too long," he said, "but in view of the agreement reached I shall not press for a reopening of the matter."

Garcia Wants To Store A-Weapons In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—President Carlos P. Garcia said Saturday he wants atomic weapons stored in the Philippines where they can be put to instant use in event of an attack. He emphasized this includes U. S. missiles.

Garcia's top air force general, Brig. Gen. Pedro Q. Molina, quickly backed up the President. Both men were obviously thinking about the giant armies of Red China, only a few hundred miles across the South China Sea.

Garcia issued the invitation to the United States to bring atomic weapons here in an interview with The Associated Press on the 18th anniversary of the fall of Bataan to the Japanese.

The President appeared to have been thinking a great deal about the question, and chose his words carefully.

He was obviously aware of the violent opposition of some other free Asian nations, especially Japan, to storing atomic weapons on their soil.

The President said that if the United States felt it necessary, the atomic weapons "could be kept at the American bases here rather than under the control of the Philippine government."

Believe Soviet About Ready To Send Man Into Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union may attempt within the next few months to send a man into space, before the United States can accomplish the feat.

Sometime this summer, probably about August, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to take the first preliminary step toward a satellite trip for an astronaut.

In this scheduled experiment, one of the seven selected astronauts will ride a capsule launched on the nose of a Redstone missile on a test ride of a few minutes duration.

The firing will be from NASA's launching station at Wallops Island, Va., on the Atlantic coast, with the nose cone climbing to between 100 and 120 miles and traveling down range about 200 miles. There the capsule and passenger would be recovered in the same technique used a number of times in retrieving the instrument nose cones of missiles.

American scientists are not deluding themselves about this part of the technological race with the Sovite Union. They expect a Soviet attempt at putting a man into space at any time. Some of them are surprised that the U.S.S.R. has not moved in that direction before now.

The U.S.S.R. may attempt to make a full-scale manned satellite flight instead of the experimental and brief ballistic missile flight planned initially by the United States.

Expect Civil Rights Bill To Get Friendly Reception In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A friendly reception apparently awaits the civil rights bill when it returns to the House this week after its tempestuous trip through the Senate.

The leadership that last month steered the bill successfully through the House appears willing to accept a series of relatively minor changes made in it by the Senate before 71-18 passage Friday night.

If the House does take the measure as it now stands it would avoid the pitfall of a Senate-House conference and thus put a quick end to the long legislative battle to help assure the voting rights of Negroes in state, local and federal elections.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told newsmen he hopes the House will accept the bill soon and Congress can move on "to other much-needed things."

Expressing belief the eight weeks the Senate spent on the bill were worthwhile, Johnson said: "The important thing is that we have produced a bill which can be supported by honorable men — north south, east and west.

"I believe that most Americans will regard this a step forward."

The general feeling around the House Saturday was that final action on the bill will be taken shortly after Congress returns from an Easter vacation.

Despite the number of changes, House leaders regard the bill passed by the Senate as substantially the same as the one they pushed through by a 311-109 margin March 24.

Rep. William M. McCullouth (R-Ohio), who with Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-NY) of the House Judiciary Committee led the earlier House fight, said he was prepared to accept the Senate amendments.

"As far as I have been able to follow the Senate action," McCullouch said, "I feel there have been no changes that weakened the bill substantially and there are some that have improved it."

Most important, he said, the voting referee section he considers the heart of the bill came through intact.

Flood Victims Anxious To Start Cleanup Task

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Victims of one of Illinois' worst spring floods waited impatiently Saturday for flood waters of the swollen Mississippi River to drain out of their sodden homes and off their lands.

North of St. Louis for 150 miles the turbulent father-of-waters was slowly receding after spilling over an estimated 50,000 acres of land in the Quincy area in western Illinois.

Farm dwellers and residents of inundated Meyer, a tiny river port 20 miles north of Quincy, expressed the opinion the worst was over. All were anxious to get about the gigantic task of cleaning up and restoring damaged property as soon as possible.

The Red Cross said Saturday a survey in eight states hit by spring floods showed more than 8,000 homes and another 2,000 buildings damaged by the floods. It said families in some parts of Illinois and Missouri already were moving back to their homes.

But flood workers still kept a sharp watch along the river lest weakened dikes give way as the water slowly falls back to its natural route.

Army engineers ordered pleasure boats to stay out of the critical areas north of Quincy. They feared waves from the craft might cause breaks in the earthen levees.

Election Tuesday Will Reflect Nixon's Popularity In State

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's popularity among Illinois Republican voters will be reflected in Tuesday's primary results.

Nixon's name appears alone in the state's presidential preference lists. He has no opponent on the GOP ballot. There is no Democratic popularity test for presidential aspirants.

Each party will elect 50 of its national convention delegates. State conventions later will elect delegates-at-large to complete a 60-vote GOP delegation and a 69-vote Democratic contingent.

Delegates in Illinois are not committed by the preference ballot.

But Republican delegates are considered in the bag for Nixon.

With most Democratic delegate candidates mum on their preference, the primary election will give only sketchy indications as to who'll be supported at the party convention.

Fifty-six of 92 Democratic delegate candidates replied to an Associated Press poll and gave this distribution of presidential nominee preference:

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts 13; Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri 9; Adlai E. Stevenson, former Illinois governor, 4; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota 4, and former Connecticut Gov. Chester Bowles 1. Four candidates said they had favorites they weren't disclosing, and 21 said they had open minds.

Nixon forces will be watching the Illinois vote to see whether the vice president does as well as GOP leaders in the last two preference primaries.

For instance, will he do as well as the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in 1952 when he topped a six-man field with 935,867 out of 1,397,356 GOP votes cast? President Dwight Eisenhower, then being boomed for a first term, received 147,518 votes, running third behind Harold E. Stassen.

The Republican primary in 1952 drew more heavily than that of the Democrats who counted 894,991 votes. But in 1956, the Democratic vote was 961,999 compared with 877,578 for the GOP.

President Eisenhower romped away with the Republican preference test, amassing 781,710 against Sen. William F. Knowland of California and Lar Daly, the Illinois stool and chair man. Stevenson took 717,742 of the Democratic preference votes, with a modicum of write-in opposition.

A showing for Nixon next Tuesday of about 800,000 votes would provide a measure satisfaction for the national GOP leadership. And 900,000 would count as an immense popularity endorsement.

Candidates Busy As Election Race Draws To Close

CHICAGO (AP) — News of the Illinois primary election candidates Saturday:

Samuel W. Witwer, seeking Tuesday's GOP Senate nomination, asked "every single Republican candidate in every county of the state to devote 100 per cent of their efforts Monday to bringout a big vote for Vice President Richard M. Nixon."

Democratic U.S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, who hasn't any opposition for a third term nomination, was electioneering anyway. He came from Washington immediately after the Senate passed a civil rights bill Friday, and plunged into a round of talking and handshaking at shopping centers in the Chicago area.

Gov. William G. Stratton, trying for Republican third term endorsement, told Chicago ward meetings he's confident voters want "careful, thoughtful and sane planning to continue in Illinois."

State Sen. Hayes Robertson, Stratton's Republican opponent, kept campaigning in Kane County while backers predicted a 100,000-vote victory for him.

William H. Rentschler, another GOP Senate aspirant, made a 1,000-mile, seven-city swing and predicted "a big vote and a big victory for Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Republican."

Joseph D. Lohman, state treasurer and Democratic candidate for governor, told a Joliet audience that Tuesday's results will be an upset that "is going to surprise the so-called experts."

Another contender for the Democratic governor nomination, Stephens A. Mitchell, wrote an open letter to Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago accusing the mayor of boss rule and saying that "The new 'boss' will be the people," if Mitchell is elected.

Otto Kerner, Daley's choice for the Democratic governor nomination, had no Saturday electioneering on his schedule, but planned a ward talk Sunday.

Disarm Talks Recess April 29

GENEVA (AP) — East and West announced Saturday the stalled 10-nation disarmament conference will begin about a month's recess April 29 while government heads tackle the problem at the summit in Paris.

A statement on the recess by the U. S. delegation disclosed an amazing short-circuit in the lines of communications between Geneva and the State Department in Washington.

U. S. Delegate Frederick M. Eaton announced that the recess was "discussed between both sides and has been mutually acceptable and agreed."

Apparently because of a faulty staff work, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told a news conference in Washington Friday that the Soviet Union was pushing for a recess until June against the wishes of the Western delegation.

Eaton quickly sought authority to correct the secretary of state's "misunderstanding" and was given approval from Washington, informants said.

In a statement to the press, Eaton said "any indication that it (the recess) resulted from Soviet urging could only have come from a misunderstanding."

A Soviet spokesman said the United States took the initiative for a recess until after the summit conference, which opens May 16. The Geneva conference is expected to resume negotiations about June 6.

Eaton's statement apparently was issued in an attempt to maintain the friendly atmosphere of the conference. Despite the deadlock the four-weeks-old meeting has seen less cold-war bitterness than any East-West disarmament negotiation since World War II.

Eaton and the British, French, Italian and Canadian delegations were reported hopeful that the conference could make some progress toward disarmament if the summit meeting agree at least on how the subject should be discussed.

This means that the Soviet bloc would have to accept a discussion of controls before any Western commitment on specific disarmament measures. The issue of controls is a major cause of the deadlock.

But Western officials were convinced that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would ask a high price for allowing his disarmament negotiators to change their tactics.

The first four weeks of the talks saw the West reject Khrushchev's plan for total disarmament within four years and the Soviet bloc turn down the West's gradual approach. Any move toward compromise will have to be made at a higher level than this conference, informants said.

FIRES UP FOR OLD FLAME: Thelma Kamuchey, 25, of Milwaukee, Wis., admitted to police that she set 10 fires in 63 days so she could watch an old flame while he fought the new fires. She said she set the fires to coincide with the working days of her old boy friend, a Milwaukee fireman, so she could see him in action. (NEA Telephoto)

IKE SIGNS WHEAT BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed legislation eliminating acreage penalties on wheat producers who suffer crop failures.

The bill is designed to prevent the farm, county and state from losing wheat acreage history when the farm exceeds its acreage allotment but does not, because of crop failure, produce marketing excess.

It provides that where there is no marketing excess because of crop failure the farm shall be regarded as having stored an excess to avoid the acreage history penalty.

Rejected Suitor Shoots Self In Beverly Aadland's Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A rejected suitor, sobbing "I love you too much . . . I can't kill you," shot himself in Beverly Aadland's apartment Saturday, police said, after terrorizing the teen-age entertainer.

William Stanciu, 20, an aspiring actor with a juvenile arrest record, was not expected to live. He was hospitalized with a bullet wound in the head.

Miss Aadland, 17, last flame of the late Errol Flynn, told police Stanciu forced his way into her apartment and raped her at gunpoint. She said he told her: "If I can't have you, no one can."

"He told me that I had ruined his life—that he loved me, but I didn't love him," Beverly sobbed, "and he was going to kill me."

Police said they found Stanciu lying across a bed, nude except for a pair of bathing trunks slipped over one leg. Beverly was next door, where she had called police. Investigators said doctors found matted blood in her hair.

Neighbors said Stanciu, a handsome, wavy-haired youth, was a frequent visitor to Beverly's apartment. "They seemed quite devoted," one commented.

Beverly, a willowy, platinum blonde with a pixie face and petulant mouth, was taken to Juvenile Hall. She is being held under a law permitting detention of juveniles in cases where there is "lack of supervision." She is scheduled to have a hearing Wednesday to determine if she has adequate supervision. Her lawyer said he will try to get her out on a writ and, if that fails, seek to move up the hearing from Wednesday to Monday.

She balked at sitting in the back seat of a police car, explaining: "I get seasick."

She told newsmen Stanciu had asked her to marry him and she refused.

"He is a sweet boy, but very impressionable," Beverly added. "He was copying others he was hanging around with, who weren't too good. That's one reason why I stopped seeing him."

The slender blonde said she would visit him in the hospital if he asked her to. She described Stanciu's attitude as one of "humble arrogance — if that makes any sense. One minute he would be laughing at me, the next he would be telling me how much he loved me." She said they had never gone out alone on their dates.

Police said Stanciu slugged Beverly's mother, Florence Aadland, last April 3 when she objected to his courting Beverly. Mrs. Aadland said she tried to break up the romance because Stanciu "couldn't afford to buy Beverly toothpaste for a month."

Police records show Stanciu was arrested in 1947 and charged with burglary and carrying a concealed weapon. He served a term in a San Diego youth camp.

Beverly has been working part time as an entertainer in a Sunset Strip night spot.

Caps Three Weeks Of Revolt Against White Supremacy

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Martial law was forecast Saturday night as the result of a white man's attempt to assassinate Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd. Two pistol bullets were fired into the face of the aparthied architect.

Verwoerd was cut down Saturday a short while after proclaiming at a trade and farm fair in Johannesburg that, "We shall fight for our existence and we shall survive."

Though two small-caliber bullets lodged in his head, the uncompromising, 58-year-old chief of South Africa's white supremacy government was reported recovering in the city's general hospital.

"He is fully conscious and resting well," his doctors announced.

Quick imposition of martial law by Gov. Gen. Charles Swart was forecast by the Nationalist newspaper Die Vaderland for the crisis-torn nation, already under state of-emergency regulations. It said a dusk-to-dawn curfew was likely.

Rifle-carrying police and plainclothesmen surrounded post offices, broadcasting studios and English-language newspapers.

The government - controlled South African Broadcasting Corp. repeatedly broadcast a statement by a senior Cabinet minister, Paul Sauer, minister of lands, urging the population to be calm.

Official expressions of regret streamed in from other governments at the shooting, a violent development capping a three-week period of violence. The United States, Denmark and the Netherlands were among the first to deplore the incident.

A slight, middle-aged white man —not one of the 10 million Negroes guided by the government with an iron hand — attacked Verwoerd at a trade and farm exposition celebrating the 50th anniversary of the racially troubled Union of South Africa.

Wearing on his herringbone suit a badge that gave him unchallenged access to the platform where Verwoerd sat watching a parade of cattle, he walked close to the Prime Minister and triggered three shots at his face with what appeared to be a .22-caliber pistol. The final shot apparently flew wild.

The latest medical bulletin said X-rays disclosed the Premier's lower jaw, in addition to the right upper jaw, was fractured. No further bulletins were expected until Sunday.

Blood streamed from his face and mouth as he fell into the arms of his wife, the mother of their seven children. She wept as she comforted him. Mrs. Verwoerd had seen the gunman's intention and lunged forward to intervene, a moment too late.

He looked terror-stricken and his eyes seemed glazed at the swift arrest and the angry reaction of spectators. Men jostled and crowded for a chance to get in a punch and insults were poured on him as he was hauled away to a police station.

"God help me," the prisoner exclaimed.

Nothing other than guesswork was available on his motive or the state of his mind.

Cold Air, Snow Rout Spring In Most Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's spring weather fare Saturday included freezing temperatures, snow and floods.

Cold air sweeping southward out of Canada held much of the eastern half of the United States in in a chilly grip.

Freezing temperatures and snow flurries were reported from the lower Great Lakes eastward to the Appalachians.

Farther south, readings in the central Atlantic states ranged into the 50s and 60s. It was a cool 50 in the nation's capitol at the opening of the annual Cherry Blossom Festival. Along the Gulf Coast temperatures ranged between the 50s and 70s.

An overnight accumulation of 6½ inches of snow was reported in the mountain community of Kane, in northwest Pennsylvania. Other areas in the state reported falls of 2 to 5 inches, most of which melted rapidly as temperatures rose.

Binghamton, N. Y., was hit with 8 inches of snow that began falling Friday, and Olean, N. Y., was covered with 3 inches.

Precipitation generally was light over the country with a few showers and thunderstorms in eastern Texas and Louisiana. Light rain fell over the northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest.

Blues Of Driver For Brink's Lead To Theft Charge

CHICAGO (AP)—"I don't know why I did it," was all that William Johnson could say Saturday about taking 30,000 from the Brink's Inc. truck that he drove.

Johnson sadly reflected on the subject of money as he sat in the central police station lockup:

"I've handled millions of the stuff. It's like cabbages and spinach."

But on Friday, Johnson, 57, a trusted employe of the company for 26 years, walked away from his truck with $30,000 under his arm.

When found two hours later, he still had the bag of money except for $60, spent for drinks in a West Side bar and clothes.

Johnson said then he had the blues—his wife had been mad at him and locked him out of the house the night before and that morning his supervisor at work had reproved him for going on a bender.

Police Capt. Frank Pape, who listened to Johnson tell his troubles, said he would ask the Brink's people to give Johnson a non-money handling job until he is eligible for a $135 a month pension in two years.

Johnson is charged with grand larceny.

Five Accidents Occur In City Friday Evening

A rash of accidents hit Jacksonville Friday afternoon. Starting about 4 o'clock five accidents were reported to the police in as many hours. Fortunately two of these were very minor.

The first major accident occurred at 4:05 p.m. at the intersection of Church street and College avenue. Glenna Coats, route 2, was going west on College and Nancy Bradney was going east on College, attempting to turn left onto Church.

The front end of the Coats auto, a 1953 Chevrolet, was damaged. The right side of the Bradney auto, a 1959 Mercury, was damaged.

The second accident occurred at 4:30 p.m. on South Main street, just north of College avenue. Clarence Brummett, 138 Sandusky, had parked his auto, a 1960 Pontiac, and was opening the door to get out.

Ruth Killion, 1603 Lakeview Terrace, going south on Main, hit the open door. The right front fender and both doors on the right side of the Killion auto were damaged. The left door and front fender of the Brummett auto were damaged.

At 5:25 p.m. a third accident occurred at the intersection of South Main and Bissel streets. Ralph J. Wiebe, 349 West Beecher, was going north on Main, and Carl E. Williams of Mt. Vernon was coming onto the street from the Clark service station. Williams was also going north.

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in pastel pink organdy over satin with full conventional length skirts. Sashes encircled their waistlines and tied at the back with large bows.

The little flower girl carried a basket of pink rose petals.

The mother of the bride wore a poudre blue matching dress and linen duster. Her accesories were black, her floral hat in blue and her flowers pale pink roses.

Attacked by Stallion

George Lakin of this city has received word of the serious injury to his nephew, Barry Lakin, son of David Lakin of Mt. Olive. The young man was attacked by a stallion which also hurt his father, Mr. David Lakin.

The saddle horse attacked the younger man in a pasture of their farm, tossing him around and biting his arm so severely that an artery and muscles were severed. He was rushed to St. Luke's Hospital, St. Louis, as was his father. It was reported he was still unconscious on Wednesday.

A teen-age friend of Barry secured a gun and frightened the animal away, being afraid to shoot it for fear he would hit Lakin. The father, who was away from home when the animal attacked his son, feared it might attack someone else.

He bridled the horse in the pasture, without mishap, and led it to the barn where it turned on him and bit his right arm. He managed to escape without additional injury. Mr. Lakin was dismissed from the St. Louis hospital on Thursday.

The black stallion has been regarded as a pet, having been raised by the Lakins by bottle feeding.

ROUND-THE-ROOM COMFORT

There's an imaginative new approach to room planning today — due largely to our changed pattern of living in a fast-tempo age. We are no longer ivory-tower dreamers about the use of space, allocating an entire room to each phase of living. We now insist upon having flexible furniture ingeniously arranged to give us comfortable, convenient, work-saving areas for several functions all in one room. Here the family can go about their hobbies, relax, televiey, enjoy cozy conversation and casual meals.

Every inch of space has been put to good use with family comfort in mind in the large combination room sketched above. Wall-to-wall rag carpeting gives a homespun look, is practical and colorful, and can take a lot of hard wear. Sturdy, solid-looking maple furniture is right at home in the green-and-golden yellow color scheme. Small-patterned wallpaper is unobtrusive yet imparts warmth, friendliness and a feeling of intimacy to the setting.

Note how the furniture has been arranged to give each functional group importance in its own right, to create a sense of round-the-room comfort, and how a nice feeling of balance has been maintained throughout.

Whether you're buying just one addition or replacement piece, a group, or a whole houseful, we'd thoroughly enjoy helping you make satisfactory selections from our fine collection of distinctive furnishings. Remember, we offer you style, quality and value with every piece you purchase from us.

TV NEWS

by DON SHUMAKER

Peter Hurkos, a "telepathic detective" who is said to have solved crimes in 17 countries, including 27 murders, by the use of his bazarre and unexplainable gift, is the subject of a 2-part drama telecast on ABC-TV's "Alcoa Presents" April 19 and 26. A former merchant seaman and Dutch Underground worker, Hurkos is a man of limited education and background. And his amazing supernatural gift is all the more remarkable because of the way it came about.

It was during the Nazi occupation of his native Holland that it began. Working one day with his father's housepainting firm, he fell 40 feet from a ladder, fracturing his skull. Waking 4 days later in a hospital, he began to "see" things . . . he "knew" the man in the next bed was a common thief (he was) . . . he called the nurse by name (but had never met her before) . . . and predicted that she would lose a valise (which she had that very morning). Subsequent examination determined Hurkos was suddenly the possessor of the rare and extraordinary gift of extra-sensory perception. The amazing story of his subsequent career as a "psychic detective" will be unfolded in detail on "Alcoa Presents" as one of its most interesting and thought-provoking presentations. Something else that's interesting and thought-provoking is the consistent year-after-year quality built into RCA Victor TV sets. Their engineers put special emphasis on quality and dependability of performance in the sets they produce. For a TV set you can rely on make your next set an RCA. HORSES ARE AUTOMATION

INTERNATIONAL Falls, Minn. (AP)— Gerald Wheelock and his nephew, Dean, have devised a form of automation to snake logs from the forest at their logging site near here. But they have to say "giddy-ap" to get it started.

They've trained a pair of horses to skid logs out of the woods along the 1,000-foot trail without benefit of reins or a driver. Gerald hooks the logs up to horse No. 1, gives him a gentle pat and off the animal goes to the loading ramp.

When No. 1 arrives, Dean starts No. 2 back on the trail for another load. They say the two trained horses save the big expense of tractors and loaders to get the pulpwood logs out of the woods.

Health Clinics Held For Jersey-Greene Students

JERSEYVILLE — The annual clinic for health examinations of all children who will enter Unit 100 or parochial schools of the county next autumn will be held at the Elementary School Gymnasium in Jerseyville, Thursday morning, April 14th from nine to eleven a.m.

The pre-schoolers who will attend any of Unit 100 attendance centers next fall will also be registered during the clinic, and they must bring their birth certificates with them. Parents must furnish their own transportation for the children who will be first graders during the 1960-61 school term. Parochial pre schoolers have already been registered and they will not need their birth certificates.

Illinois law requires health examination of all children entering the first, fifth and ninth grades of the schools. Girls who are enrolled in the fourth and eighth grades at present were given their examinations Thursday at East Elementary school and the boys of the same grades were examined Friday. Bus transportation for these groups was furnished by the district.

Physicians, dentists and optometrists of the county have been giving the examinations and a nominal fee of two dollars was made. Explanatory notices of the clinics were mailed to parents by Unit 100 nurses, Miss Betty Stanley and Mrs. Helen Lawder.

Retired Captain Says—

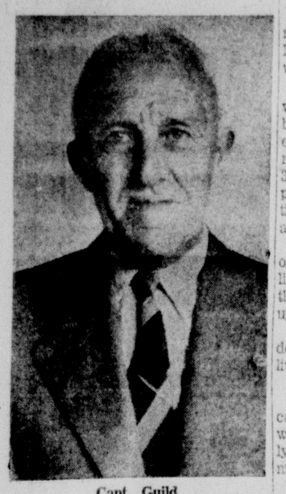
'We Have Living Dead In Red Prison Camps'

By JOHN B. MARTIN

Has the United States through the medium of its state department and foreign policy turned its back on American fighting men of the Korean War?

Captain Eugene R. Guild, U. S. Army (retired), has been asking that question before government agencies, groups and conventions for the past three years. The 64 year-old retired combat officer counts few of his townsfolks in Glenwood Springs, Colorado, among his close friends.

Matter of fact, he confesses, most of his fellow townsmen shy away from him and would feel slightly more at ease if he would pack his duds and move elsewhere.



Capt. Guild

The straight-laced, conservative element fear Captain Guild will give their town a bad name. They don't object to his spending a quiet day running river rapids in a tiny rubber life raft nor a few miles hike through waist-deep snow in the mountains.

What bothers the folks in Glenwood Springs is his continual "rabble-rousing" fight with the U.S. government over its unwillingness to admit the possibility that more than 3,000 U.S. servicemen may today be prisoners of the Red Chinese and its timid refusal to take positive, strong action.

One of the most terrifying aspects of war, historically a cold fact of life, is that some men conscripted by their nations to fight are swallowed up and lost in the grisly shuffle.

They're not among the known dead. They're not among the known living.

Worse, by far—they're just gone!

After the war in Korea, the U.S. counted its casualties. Among them were more than 6,000 missing. Slowly, since then, it has whittled the number down.

Several hundred were later located in prison camps and returned. An additional 2,730 bodies, less than half of them identifiable, were sent back to us by the Chinese. Others, according to definite evidence, had either died in action or prison camps. Still others were eventually written off by the U.S. government as "presumed dead."

"It's the last group which has kept the United States talking out of both sides of its mouth ever since," Captain Guild declared.

The government finds it morally and diplomatically embarrassing — considering what little is being done —to admit that more than 3,000 of the missing members of our armed forces might today be captives or slaves in Red China. So it states to the kin of those still unaccounted for that it has no reason to believe they're alive.

Then it compiles a list of 450 missing where there is evidence that the men were taken alive by the Chinese and demands information from the Reds as to their whereabouts, or fate.

Department of defense and state department negotiators are still meeting with Communist representatives at Panmunjom, going through the useless formality of requesting an accounting.

The formality is useless because the Reds fail to answer polite requests — they just don't understand that kind of language.

Known Facts

Among the cases which the Chinese repeatedly deny knowledge of:

—An Air Force major, shot down on Sept. 9, 1950. The U.S. has proof that he was taken prisoner and held, at one time, in a jail in Pyongyang. Later, the agency "Soviet Picture" released a photograph of him stating that he had been taken prisoner.

—An Army captain whose plane was shot down in October, 1952. Statements from other prisoners of war established that he, too, was captured. He lost one leg when shot down and had his other leg amputated in a Communist hospital a month later.

—An Army private taken prisoner in August, 1950. Several months later, a Communist radio station broadcast a message from him to his mother.

Across the bargaining tables, the Reds denied all knowledge of ever having held these and hundreds of other men with similar documented stories.

They still do today, with the exception of the double-amputee captain. After months of denying his capture, they changed their story to say that yes, they had him and amputated both legs but he escaped. The double amputee got out of his hospital bed and escaped.

At a 1957 hearing of the Committee of Foreign Affairs, House of Representatives, strong evidence was brought out that the Chinese Reds had held, and possibly are still holding, the 450 on the government list. Since that time they have added two additional names to bring the total to 452.

Capt. Guild sets the figure at 3,013. This he arrived at by taking the number of servicemen still unaccounted for after the war and subtracting the number of remains which the Chinese finally were pressured into returning to U. S. authorities, plus 46 others who were later established as dead.

"Over the years," the captain said, "I've compiled evidence as strong, or stronger, on dozens of the others."

In a voice disarmingly soft, the captain continued, "But instead of adding to their list as more information comes to light, the government is backing down, soft-pedalling the issue."

"The Communists have a habit of secretly holding prisoners. A few years ago, after keeping 289 Spaniards for 11 years and denying it all the time, they suddenly released them. They've done the same with Italian and German prisoners.

Fighting Homefolks

Today, Capt. Guild heads a loose organization known as "Fighting Homefolks of Fighting Men," made up of 1,000 relatives and friends of missing GI's. He gets no salary. In fact, much of his pension check goes into his crusade.

"We gather information and we try to keep public interest alive on the issue," he said. "The government's attitude is "they're dead" or "there's nothing more we can do about them than we're doing now, short of war."

"This, naturally, scares the public because none of us want war.

"What the government doesn't point out is that there's a middle ground.

"Instead of wasting postage on perfumed diplomatic notes and keeping men in Warsaw and Panmunjom making token protests, the U. S. could use severe economic and diplomatic pressures.

"We as a nation, could generate world-wide opinion and force the Reds into accounting for the missing men."

"These men," the captain, who, himself lost a son in Korea, concluded, "proved their loyalty on the battlefield. Now it's time for the U. S. government to prove its loyalty."

Captain Guild stopped in Jacksonville little more than an hour, on his way to a speaking date before a veteran's group in Cleveland. He admits that many of those thought missing may now be dead but continues in his dedication that all prisoners be returned.

One can't help but envision the foreign policy of Teddy Roosevelt near the turn of the century without thinking the seventh fleet would be ordered to sail up the Yalu—all guns ready!

Now is a good time to store your fur coat in our zero cold vault. EMPORIUM.

THE 14th ILLINOIS VOLUNTEERS

Fritz Haskell of Winchester, whose father was the surviving color bearer of the 14th Illinois Volunteer Infantry nearly a hundred years ago, was the speaker Friday night at the April meeting of the Civil War Round Table.

He told of the beginnings of the regiment, made up of a company of men from each of the 10 counties in the Congressional district; its training at Camp Duncan, now the Morgan county fair grounds; the chases after the guerillas in Missouri, the battles of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson, Shiloh and Vicksburg, Atlanta and the March to the Sea, through the Carolinas and the Grand Parade at Washington, then to Kansas and Nebraska to quell the Indians, and finally home.

"Altogether, they marched, traveled by steamboat and rail, a distance equivalent to half way around the world," Haskell said. "There were enrolled, at one time or another, nearly 1900 men in the regiment; there were 480 present when they were discharged.

The regiment's first colonel was John M. Palmer, a Carlinville attorney, who rose to be a major general, governor, U. S. senator and presidential candidate. B. F. Stephenson of Springfield was the regimental surgeon. Later he was the organizer of the Grand Army of the Republic and its first commander. The chaplain was William J. Rutledge of Jacksonville, for several years national chaplain of the G.A.R.

The regiment trained at Camp Duncan for about eight weeks before it headed for Missouri. Peter Cartwright of Pleasant Plains preached the farewell sermon.

States Attorney Richard Mann of Winchester read Haskell's paper for him, as the latter pleaded King's X due to the infirmities of age. But in the question period that followed Haskell forgot his years, 85, and rollicked his auditors with his distinctive observations built on a lifetime study of the 14th Illinois regiment.

Attending the Round Table for the first time were Ralph Heiss, Dr. Robert Herr, Gordon May, Jr., William Schildman, Jr., and G. Leonard Hills.

A visitor was Rev. Kenneth Bower of Staunton, Civil War history enthusiast who hopes to organize a Round Table in the Staunton-Carlinville area.

The next meeting will be held again at Illinois College on Friday, May 6, and all men interested in Civil War history are invited to attend.

The photograph shows Jack Kurtz, (left) Round Table president, as he thanked Haskell and Mann for presenting the interesting program. They stand before a portrait of Julian M. Sturtevant, Illinois College president, who Lincoln sent to England to help keep that country from intervening in behalf of the South—an endeavor that paid off 100%.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—After several days of alternate up and down fluctuations, the butcher hog market ended 25 cents higher for the 14th consecutive weekly advance.

The periods of weakness and strength appeared to be directly related to the volume of supply but lower prices in the wholesale pork market also became a consideration after midweek. Some pork cuts were down as much as $4.00 a hundredweight and loins were at their lowest levels in about two months.

The cattle supply was about 20 per cent smaller than for the previous week but slaughter steers closed weak to 50 cents lower. Buyers said demand softened because of religious Jewish holidays next week when non-Kosher slaughter will be curtailed.

The upturn of 25 cents on slaughter lambs for the week was maintained since Monday despite a carryover of offerings on each day thereafter and a wholesale dressed lamb market $1.00 lower.

CHICAGO (AP)—(USDA)—Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week and estimated receipts for Saturday:

Hogs 100; barrows and gilts strong to mostly 25 higher, sows steady to 25 lower. At the close, a 36-head lot of closely sorted high yielding No 1 210 lbs brought 17.00. Other No 1, No 2, and mixed No 1 and 2 190-220 lb sold unevenly from 16.35-16.85. Mixed grades No 2 and 3 and mixed grades No 1, 2 and 3, 190-220 lbs sold in a narrow range of 16.25-16.50. Mixed grades No 2 and 3 and No 3 230-260 lbs 16.00-16.35. Few lots No 2 230-240 lbs 16.35-16.60. Mixed grades No 2 and 3 and No 3 260-290 lbs 15.65-16.15. Mixed grades No 2 and 3 350-575 lb sows 13.50-14.25.

Cattle 100; despite sharp cutback in supplies, prime steers closed weak to mostly 50 lower. Steers choice and below closed steady to 50 higher but market slow, heifers mostly 50 higher, cows 25-75 higher, bulls steady, vealers 1.00-2.00 lower. Early bulk high choice and prime 1050-1475 lb slaughter steers, the majority scaling 1150-1400 lbs, 29.00-32.50; bulk choice steers all weights 27.00-29.50, numerous loads mixed good and choice 26.50-27.00, bulk good steers 24.00-26.50, most utility and standard steers 19.50-23.50, prime 1041 and 1134 lb heifers 29.50, equal to the highest price paid for heifers since last July, few loads and lots high choice and mixed choice and prime 900-1050 lb heifers 28.00-29.00, early bulk choice heifers 26.00-27.75, late bulk 26.50 up, loadlots mixed good and choice heifers 25.50-26.50, most good grades 23.00-25.50, few high commercial and standard cows 18.50-20.00, utility and commercial bulls 19.00-21.00, scattered head prime vealers 34.00, good and choice vealers 27.00-33.00 with very few above 31.00, standard vealers 20.00-27.00.

Late in week 236 head string choice and prime 117 lb wooled slaughter lambs 22.50 and deck good and choice 116 lb muddy fleeced lambs 21.25. Good and choice native wooled slaughter lambs 90-110 lbs 21.00-22.50. Utility grade lambs down to 18.00. Deck choice and prime around 100 lb No 1 pelt shorn lambs 22.00. Cull to choice slaughter ewes 7.00-8.50.

WEEK'S GRAIN PRICES SHOW DOWNWARD TREND

CHICAGO (AP) — The price trend was generally downward in the grain futures market this week despite some periods of moderate recovery from time to time.

Most declines were limited to a cent a bushel. However, nearby soybeans and distant rye contracts posted losses running to more than two cents in spots.

May soybeans finished lower every day during the week and at the end had lost three cents or more of the eight cents which were added during the higher trend in the preceding three weeks. This week's setback in the May delivery was in exactly the same range as the gain of a week ago.

Speculative traders especially treated the market as an in-and-out affair all week. Many of them said it lacked the degree of stability derived from a steady, although small, volume of commercial demand.

Export business was on the meager side most of the time, leaving prices to teeter between fleeting and alternate pressures. One of these stemmed from weather. It was among the guiding influences in oats and soybeans particularly.

At the end of the week, wheat was ⅝-¾ cent a bushel lower than a week ago, May $2.07⅝-⅛; corn ½-1 cent lower, May $1.18⅝-¼; oats ½-1 cent lower, May 74 cents; rye ⅛ higher to 2¼ lower, May $1.21¼-½; soybeans 3¼ lower to ⅛ higher, May $2.15-15¼.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week scored its biggest gain of 1960 as it responded to news of a spurt in auto sales in late March and to better weather conditions throughout the nation.

Some brokers were calling it the "spring rally." The severe late winter slowed retail car sales and other business. To Wall Streeters, the combination of sharply increased car sales and improved weather was a happy one.

As Detroit is the steel industry's best customer, steel shares also had a nice rally as they accompanied the rise in motors.

The market advanced on average every day except Friday. On that session the decline was irregular and reluctant.

The advance was accompanied by the heaviest trading in about a month. Volume totaled 14,638,070 shares compared with 12,207,550 last week and was the biggest since 15,980,064 shares changed hands in the week ended March 12.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 12.12 to 628.10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.80 to 217.00, making its best weekly gain since the week ended last Dec. 5 when it rose 3.30.

Of 1,422 issues traded this week, 826 advanced and 421 declined. Highs for the year totaled 175 and lows 133.

The advance was accomplished despite the fact that the steel industry's operating rate continued on a downtrend which was generally anticipated in view of the hand-to-mouth purchasing policy of the big customers. On a weekly basis, auto production and rail carloadings were down, also.

Most active issue this week on the New York Stock Exchange was American Motors, up 1¾ at 27⅛ on 503,800 shares. Most active on the American Stock Exchange was Siboney - Caribbean Petroleum, up 3-16 at ½ on 22,400 shares.

Corporate bonds edged higher this week but U.S. government securities lost ground.

Trading for the week amounted to $28,414,750 par value on the New York Stock Exchange compared with $26,790,000 a week ago and $31,224,000 for the corresponding week a year ago.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION WILL REFLECT NIXON POPULARITY IN STATE

On the other hand, a paltry half a million Nixon votes would mean a need for some good campaign work in Illinois before the November election.

Virtually no cross-over in party voting is expected in Illinois as was possible in Wisconsin.

Illinois election laws prohibit any change of party vote within a 23 month period; and if a voter changes his party legally after a full two years, it is a matter of record.

Illinois nominates party candidates for U.S. Senator, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts and attorney general. Also to be nominated are party candidates for Congress from the 25 Illinois districts.

State Senate nominees from the 29 even-numbered districts and House nominees for all of the 177 seats from 59 districts are to be nominated.

U.S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, the Democratic incumbent, has no opposition for a third term nomination, but a six-way race for the GOP assignment to oppose him in the November election has made a lively race.

There are three Democrats seeking their party's nomination for governor. Gov. William G. Stratton, seeking a third term, is opposed by State Sen. Hayes Robertson of Flossmoor, a Chicago suburb.

The GOP Senate hopefuls are Samuel W. Witwer, Chicago attorney; Warren E. Wright, Park Ridge, former state treasurer; William H. Rentschler, Lake Forest candy manufacturer; State Sen. John W. Lewis Jr. of Marshall; John R. Harrell, Louisville contractor, and John A. Ricker, Glencoe attorney.

Striving for a chance at Stratton's office are Democrats Otto Kerner, former Cook County judge; Stephen A. Mitchell, an attorney, and State Treasurer Joseph D. Lohman, all of Chicago.

HERTER DENOUNCES RECESS AGREEMENT MADE BY EATON

have arisen between Herter in Washington and Eaton in Geneva over one of the central facts of an issue which has been discussed for many days was not explained. This is the same kind of question that arose about Eaton's acceptance of the agreement for a five-weeks recess to Herter's obvious surprise.

In the way officials privately beat about the bush when asked how this could have happened there was an implication that Eaton had made the agreement without checking with Washington for final clearance. If that happened it would explain how Herter took a line Friday which was contradicted within 24 hours by Eaton's announcement.

To Complete Registration This Week

Kindergarten registration for next school year is being completed in all elementary schools in District 117 this week. Any parent of a child who will be five years of age on or before December 1, 1960 and who has not registered the child at the school where he will attend first grade should do so next week.

Since principals are involved in giving tests and are not always free it would be best to call the school first for an appointment. The birth certificate and a complete health record should be brought to the school.

It is highly desirable that all children be registered this spring.

Any child who is not now in kindergarten and will be eligible to enroll in the first grade next fall should also be registered. Parents should call the school for an appointment as soon as possible.

Kindergartens are located in the following schools: North Jacksonville, Jefferson, Lafayette, Washington, Franklin, South Jacksonville and Woodson.

Kennedy Calls For Modernization Of Social Security

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) Saturday called for modernization of the nation's Social Security program and attacked the Eisenhower administration's reclamation policies.

The Democratic presidential hopeful spoke before some 500 persons crowded into the Flagstaff armory for his opening shot in a one-day campaign trip across Arizona.

"Our Social Security program," he said, "must be brought into line with costs and vital needs of the 1960's."

He recommended this four-point program to assure older citizens of decent retirement:

1. Increased benefits scaled to keep pace with living costs.

2. Sound and effective health insurance program for those over 65.

3. Increased lump sum payment by Social Security to surviving spouses.

4. Increased amounts which older people may earn and still remain eligible for Social Security.

"The Eisenhower administration," he said, "has left monuments of failure and shame to stand as its reclamation program.

"I am not here to talk about Western needs or problems or tell you how the next president must answer Western demands," he said.

"I have faith in the vision of two great Easterners—Teddy and Franklin D. Roosevelt—to whom the great resources of the West were the key to American greatness and growth."

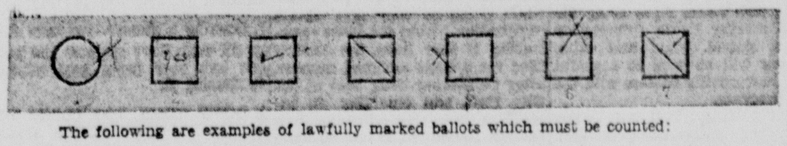
However, any elector may vote for any person of his choice whose name does not appear upon the ballot by writing the name of such person upon the ballot in the proper place under the title of the office and making a square before such written name and placing a cross in that square.

Second: The cross may be made with pen and ink or pencil.

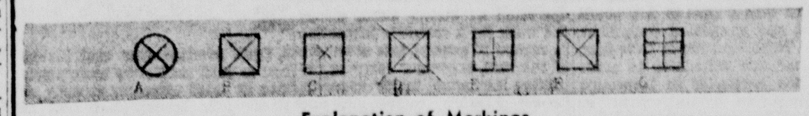
Third: Each such cross may be marked in the circle or in the square.

Fourth: The lines of each cross must intersect inside the circle or square.

The following are examples of unlawfully marked ballots which cannot be counted:



The following are examples of lawfully marked ballots which must be counted:



Explanation of Markings

Second: A, B, C, D, E, F, and G are good, because in each case a cross is used, and in each case the intersection of the lines of the cross is within the circle or square.

Co-Sponsor Will Continue To Back Golf Program

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A co-sponsor of the nationally televised "World Championship of Golf" said Saturday it would continue to back the show, at least temporarily, despite the Sam Snead incident.

Bayuk Cigars, Inc., announced it was remaining with the show pending further information from the National Broadcasting Co. and the producer of the series.

Earlier, A.S.R. Products Corp., the other sponsor, pulled out when it learned Snead admitted throwing one of the matches. The match in question was filmed in Bermuda last December and was shown last Sunday.

Snead said he discovered an extra club in his bag at the 12th hole, which meant automatic loss of all holes played that far. He said he decided to go ahead with the match and permit Mason Rudolph of Larksville, Tenn., his opponent, to win. Rudolph triumphed 1 up after Snead four putted the 16th hole and three putted the 18th.

Magnus Hendel, advertising manager for Bayuk, said his firm was "studying the film and the entire situation before any decision is reached. We are not going to be hasty."

The top-10 standings in doubles and all-events were unchanged.

The father-son combination of John Ferrare, Jr. and Sr., Jamestown, N. Y., rolled the best doubles total of the day, 1,270.

Roland Rauch's 1,849 aggregate gave the Waukegan, Ill., bowler the top all-events score of the day.

BADGERS WIN, 12-5

15 Of 33 Drivers From 500 Classic Go After Title

TRENTON, N.J.—At least 15 of the 33 drivers who competed in the 1959 Indianapolis 500 have been signed for Sunday's 100-mile USAC national championship auto race at the Trenton Speedway, the world's fastest mile paved track. Starting time is 3:15 p.m. with car warmups at noon and qualifying trials at 1 o'clock.

The standouts who raced at Indianapolis last year are Indiana's Rodger Ward (who won the big event), Gene Hartley, Jim McWithey, Don Freeland and Bobby Grim; also Illinois aces Tony Bettenhausen and Don Branson; Pennsylvania stars Johnny Thomson, Eddie Sachs and Al Herman; Oregon's Len Sutton; Ohio's Red Amick; Arizona's Bill Cheesbourg; Texan A. J. Foyt and Connecticut's Chuck Arnold.

The roster for today's brilliant card, first such race in America this year, is made up of 29 entries with the 22 fastest qualifiers slated to battle it out for the rich $17,660 cash purse and a number of impressive trophies.

Last September's 100-mile title chase—there are two of these big events held here each year—found 16 drivers peaking at speeds ranging from 126 to 138 mph, shattering all past records. Fresh from a long winter respite, the talented and daring performers will go all out to blast those marks as well as to erase from the record books the all-time world mark of completing the 100-miles in less than an hour; that standard was posted here in 1957 by the late Pat O'Connor.

Sports car road racing king George Constantine will make his debut in this major league of racing in today's program.

The huge speedway is located on the New Jersey State Fairgrounds on Route 33, just north of Trenton and can be easily reached via the New Jersey Turnpike Exits 7, from the south, and 8, from the north.

In the event of rain, the race will be held May 1.

The Cards got their run off Bob Anderson in the second. Ken Boyer walked, took third on a single by Stan Musial and scored when Bob Nieman hit into a double play.

Montreal Blanks Toronto, 2-0, For Two Game Edge

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens made two early goals by Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau stand up Saturday night to edge the Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 and take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup hockey playoff final.

The game ended with the 14,520 spectators wondering whether the final score was 2-1 or 3-1.

The Leafs had pulled goalie Johnny Bower from the net in favor of an extra skater with 12 seconds left. The Canadiens finally got possession of the puck, shooting as the clock ran out.

The puck went in, but Referee Eddie Powers ruled that the game had ended before the puck crossed the line.

All goals were scored in the opening period. The Canadiens, as in Thursday's game when they won 4-2, again got the jump by taking a 2-0 lead before Larry Regan got Toronto's lone goal.

The teams now move to Toronto for the third and fourth games Tuesday and Thursday.

State Law Will Implement Whole New Boating Program

Boat Registration, Safety Act Changes Program For Local Boaters And Fishermen On Lake Jacksonville

The Illinois Boat Registration and Safety Act, and amendments to city ordinances pertaining to boating on Lake Jacksonville will implement a whole new boating program for fishermen and boaters on Lake Jacksonville this summer, as well as fishermen and boaters in all the public owned lakes and rivers in Illinois. The State Boat Registration and Safety Act became effective March 1, and is a public law for the registration of boats, providing for regulations pertaining to the operation thereof, providing penalties for the violation thereof and defining safety codes that must be adhered to by all persons using power driven boats on the public waters. Cities having municipally owned lakes have therefore had to change and amend their boating ordinances to coincide with the new State Boating laws.

With the opening of certain areas of Lake Jacksonville, the large city owned lake which lies Southeast of the city, this year for pleasure boating and the implementation of the State's Water Safety Act, Jacksonville boaters will be introduced to a safety program that will require registration of boats, inspection of equipment, and many safe boating practices that have heretofore been required in Coast Guard controlled waters only.

The Lake Jacksonville Development Committee and the Jacksonville City Council last week put final approval on a plan of action opening boating on the city owned lakes in accordance with the new State and local safety programs. On the big lake, certain areas have been restricted to limited speed of 5 M.P.H., while other open water areas will be used for pleasure boating, and still other areas for such sports as water skiing, surfboard riding, etc. Each of these areas are clearly defined in the revised Lake Ordinance, and it appears that compliance of speed restrictions will be rigidly enforced on the new Lake. Signs along the banks, marker buoys, information folders, patrol boats and other methods will be used to acquaint Lake Jacksonville boaters with the new program.

As it is anticipated that a few nice spring week-ends will open the fishing and boating season on the lake with a rush of new boats, motors, and associated equipment, special inspection teams have been organized and scheduled to assist the Lake caretaker in inspecting and licensing boats owned by Jacksonville area people who desire to use them on the city lakes this season.

As all boats used on the lake will now require State registration, city registration, inspection and licensing before they will be allowed on the lake, a program has been worked out to make it as simple as possible for boat owners to comply with the new registration and inspection program. Here is how it will work.

Anytime during the week, boat owners desiring to register their boat may do so at the Water Department office in the City Hall, while doing so they may obtain registration blanks for State registration if they have not already filed for a State assigned number, after registering their boat at the City Hall, and obtaining an inspection form, they will take their boating equipment to one of three inspection stations that will be in operation at various times during the week for a complete inspection in regard to general safe condition of the hull, passenger carrying capacity, maximum motor capacity, approved safety equipment, and compliance with the new safety regulations.

Upon completion of the inspection they will be issued an annual license and will be ready to use the lake when they desire to do so.

Beginning April 16th, inspections will be held at the City Hall on each Saturday from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m., also at the City launching area on Lake Mauvaisterre near the ball park on Sundays from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m., and from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m., also at the boat dock at the new lake on Saturdays and Sundays after 9 am., and at the boat dock on the new lake anytime during the week by appointment with the Lake caretaker.

After Decoration Day all boats will be inspected at the new lake only. All boaters desiring to have their boats inspected must register with the Water Department at the City Hall before reporting for inspection, except transient and out of town boaters desiring only special 10 day permits, who may obtain these permits from the lake custodian at the boat dock on the new lake. Upon completion of the boat inspection each boat owner will be issued a copy of Boating Rules and Regulations pertaining to operating boats on the city owned lakes.

In accordance with the new regulations the following notice is given to all persons operating boats on Lake Jacksonville—

Regulations governing boating at Lake Jacksonville are established by City Ordinance for YOUR protection. Violators are subject to prosecution and fine. REGULATIONS WILL BE ENFORCED AND VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED ... NO SECOND CHANCE.

TO ALL PERSONS OPERATING BOATS ON LAKE JACKSONVILLE

1. The operation of a boat or craft at a speed greater than is safe and prudent under the circumstances is prohibited. All boats or crafts must operate at a safe distance from other boats and crafts. Racing or circling around other boats or crafts is prohibited.

2. No boat or craft shall travel at a speed in excess of 5 miles per hour, within 200 feet of either shore or in restricted areas.

3. No internal combustion engine or motor shall be operated on any boat or craft between the hours of 12 midnight and sunrise, except fishing boats operated at a speed of less than 5 miles per hour.

4. Stay 200 feet away from fishermen.

5. Don't ever have a private race on the lake. Boat racing is restricted to certain areas of the lake and on certain days and hours designated by the city. At any other time, racing is strictly out of order.

6. Don't ever drive your boat while drinking.

7. Don't be a showoff—you may end up all wet! Don't see how fast you can turn your motor boat without overturning it.

8. DON'T COME TOO CLOSE TO OTHER BOATS OR SKIERS. Smaller craft are easily overturned in the wake of waves created by larger craft.

9. Don't overload your boat ... no boat or craft shall carry more people than its rated passenger capacity as given in its license. Each boat or craft must carry an oar or paddle at all times.

10. Observe pilot rules in accordance with Coast Guard Rules and City Ordinance No. 452 as amended No. 887 October 1959.

11. Your equipment must conform to Illinois Boat registration and Safety Act as well as City Ordinance No. 452 as amended No. 887 October 1959.

12. All water skiers or surf board riders must wear life jackets and high visibility head gear.

13. No water skiing or surf board riding is permitted within 200 feet of the shore line or in the areas marked for the bathing beach and boat harbors except as egress and ingress. All areas for ingress and egress shall be those designated by the Lake Superintendent.

14. No water skiing or surf board riding shall be permitted between sunset and one hour before sunrise.

15. All boats pulling water skiers or surf board riders must have in addition to the driver, one adult observer in the boat or a wide view rear view mirror placed in a position so that the driver can see the skier at all times.

16. Pick up fallen skiers or dropped skis; never leave skier alone in the water.

17. Swimming is not allowed in the lake except at the designated areas such as beaches, etc., and then never beyond 200 feet of the shoreline. Swimming is not allowed out of a boat.

18. Observe city ordinances in regard to boating on Lake Jacksonville.

5. Every vessel propelled by sail, or by sail and machinery, shall carry a bright white lantern or flashlight ready at hand which shall, upon the approach of another watercraft, be exhibited and shall be flashed continuously upon its sails in sufficient time to avert collision.

6. Dinghies, tenders and other watercraft, whose principal function is as an auxiliary to other larger watercraft, when so operating need carry only a flashlight visible to other craft in the area.

D. Whistles: All motorboats of 10 or more horsepower shall carry a mouth, hand or power operated whistle horn or other appliance capable or producing a blast of 2 seconds or more duration and audible for at least one-half mile.

E. Fire Extinguisher: All motorboats of 10 or more horsepower shall carry at least one U. S. Coast Guard approved fire extinguisher so placed as to be readily accessible and in such condition as to be ready for immediate and effective use.

With this new Safety program and the opening of Lake Jacksonville for pleasure boating each boat operator should be a water safety promoter by discouraging reckless and exhibitionistic behaviour by using the "THUMBS DOWN MEANS DON'T CLOWN" gesture when observing such antics, and boaters should all work together for a safe boating summer.

SAFE OUTBOARDING

Each spring and early summer "landlubbers" "take to the sea" in boats. Bent on their new horizons of adventure, their enthusiasm prevents their taking essential safety precautions that could spare them and their families worry, grief and financial loss. It is to reduce the utterly needless small boating hazard that these lines are set down for the small boat user to read — and heed.

Palmer Retains One-Stroke Lead After Three Rounds In Masters

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer battled a biting wind and some faltering strokes Saturday to retain a one-stroke lead after three rounds in the 24th Masters Golf Tournament.

The field behind him became so closely bunched that it was anybody's title for the taking in the final 18 holes Sunday.

Palmer, after a sparkling 34 on the front nine, slipped coming back and finished with a 72, even par, for a 54-hole total of 212. That put him just one stroke ahead of Ben Hogan, Bill Casper, Dow Finsterwald, Julius Boros and Ken Venturi.

The margin was just the same as it had been at the start of Saturday's crowd-stirring third round, but the opposition was much formidable.

Hogan, at 47, is shooting for his third Masters title. He also has won the U.S. Open title four times. And Saturday he contended that the massive 6,850-yard, par 36-36—72 Augusta national course "played easy."

Casper is National Open titleholder; Boris a past winner of the Open, Finsterwald a former PGA champion and Venturi one of the top younger performers on the pro circuit. Only Boros could do any appreciable damage to Augusta national's tough par Saturday, when chilly winds brought rain and discomfort to the players and a huge gallery of about 40,000.

Boros, from Mid Pines, N.C., shot a 70, two under standard figures, and the best round of the day. Casper and Venturi had 71s and Hogan and Finsterwald par 72s for their 213 totals.

Two strokes behind the challenging quintet, at 215, came Gary Player, the young South African, who also had a 72 Saturday.

At 216 were Stan Leonard, the 45-year-old Canadian; former PGA Champion Walter Burkemo, Don January, and Claude Harmon.

They're all very much in the running for the showdown. Only a year ago Art Wall was six strokes behind Leonard and Palmer going into the last round of the Masters but he won it with a finishing birdie string that gave him a final 66.

Because of illness and an injury, Wall did not defend this year.

Palmer, winner of four tournaments and more than $26,000 on the pro tour this year, has had rounds of 67-73-72, leading all the way. His 34 on the front nine Saturday looked good enough to hold off all opposition. But he bogeyed three holes coming back, made only one birdie and looked worried as he reached the 18th green. But he made his par four and stayed in front.

The huge crowd, largest ever for a Saturday at the Masters, where big galleries are common, seethed with excitement as Hogan and Venturi made strong bids for the lead. Then Boros came on as a new contender and Casper challenged with a 34 on the back line.

Spectators were jammed into immovable masses around some greens as the favorites passed. Then they streamed out over the course to follow some of the others. One was heard to say he could see more by staying in his motel and watching television.

Something New For 1960 Baseball Season - Split Opening Day

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big League baseball has added something new for 1960—the split opening day. When the National League opens its regular season Tuesday, the American League will be deep in Florida, playing exhibitions. The American won't play a full schedule until April 19 although Washington will stage its traditional "presidential" preview April 18.

With the help of San Francisco's brand new $15,000,000 Candlestick Park which seats 42,549 the National expects to draw a league record of 165,000 for its four-game program.

Los Angeles, opening at night in the vast Coliseum, should top the list with upwards of 50,000. Milwaukee counts on a sellout of about 43,000 and Cincinnati expects its usual packed house of about 31,000.

Although the Dodgers surged from seventh to first and won the pennant and World Series in 1959, the Braves and the Giants have been made the favorites.

Two "new" managers will be on the job. Chuck Dressen succeeds Fred Haney at Milwaukee and Charlie Grimm takes over from Bob Scheffing at Chicago. Both Dressen and Grimm, of course, are old hands at the managing game.

The Giants, opening with appropriate fanfare, plan to pitch Sam Jones (21-15) against the St. Louis Cardinals' Larry Jackson (14-13).

The defending World Champions will be opening at home for the first time since they moved west from Brooklyn. Manager Walter Alston has the same front line that beat the Chicago White Sox last October. Don Drysdale (17-13) is expected to be the opening pitcher.

Grimm's Chicago Cubs will provide the opening opposition for the Dodgers with Bob Anderson (12-13) as the best guess for the starter.

Milwaukee is a stand pat club. The big difference could be Red Schoendienst, making a spirited comeback after losing almost all of last season while recovering from tuberculosis. Dressen will start Warren Spahn (21-15) against Pittsburgh.

The Pirates are about the same club that finished fourth last year. Manager Danny Murtaugh will start Bob Friend (8-19).

Cincinnati Manager Freddie Hutchinson will start either Cal McLish, Cleveland's 19-game winner of 1959, or Jim Brosnan (9-6).

Philadelphia's "new faces" campaign will include the same old pitcher, Robin Roberts, who will be starting his eleventh opener.

Rockets Split With Jerseyville, 9-4, 5-1

The Routt Rockets opened their 1960 home campaign at Nichols Park Saturday afternoon with a split of their twin-bill against Jerseyville in a chilly afternoon of baseball.

The Panthers took the first game, 9-4, in nine innings with the aid of five runs in the top of the ninth after Routt had rallied for three runs in the bottom of the fifth to knot the score at 4-all. Jerseyville's first four runs in the first inning off loser Jack Lawless were unearned.

The initial game saw Lawless of Routt and Roger Summers go the route in the extra inning affair. Lawless walked five and struck out eight while Summers yielded eight free passes and fanned as many batters. Center fielder Mickey Walker kept Routt in contention for a victory with two fine running catches which put down a Jerseyville rally each time.

The Panthers got their five runs in the ninth on a walk, hit batsmen, error, walk, error, hit, sacrifice fly and two fielder's choices.

In the second game Routt stormed back in the first inning for a pair of runs to offset a 1-0 Jerseyville lead and dented the plate three times in the fourth inning for a 5-1 decision behind the one-hit pitching of Fred Curtis, who collected five hits in seven trips to the plate during the afternoon.

The contest was to have been a five inning affair but it had to be called after five and one half innings due to darkness.

Routt iced the verdict in the fourth when Watts walked, Sullivan singled, Lawless flied to left, Curtis singled, Tobin flied to right and Walker singled to left to drive in the third run of the uprising. The victory was Routt's first of the year against two defeats.

Curtis walked seven and fanned seven for the Winstead nine in five and a half innings while loser Bill Kanalakana struck out four and walked three in his five inning stint on the hill.

Crimsons Win Pair From Saukees, 5-3, 5-2

PITTSFIELD — Coach Bob Kraushaar's Crimson nine rallied twice to win a doubleheader from Pittsfield Saturday afternoon, 5-3, and 5-2 with the temperature in the 30s.

The Jacks won their first game of the season in the initial contest, which lasted eight innings behind, the the three hit pitching of Larry Smith. The Crimsons got to Bruce Saxbury for nine hits, one of which was a home run by Gary Spangenberg.

Smith allowed five walks, struck-out 11 and was the victim of four errors. Saxbury gave up four walks, fanned seven and his teammates committed four miscues.

JHS scored three in the top of the eighth on Smith's double followed by a fielder's choice, a walk and singles by Mike Mentler and Erland Thady. Two of the three Saukee hits were home runs by Higgen and Patton.

The second game was to have been a five inning affair but the score was tied at 2-all after the limited frames and the Jacks pushed across three runs in the top of the sixth to claim their second triumph.

Larry Darwent went the route for the winners allowing one walk and fanning nine Saukees. The Jacks had five errors.

Haskins, who was tagged with the loss, walked six and had six strikeouts. Pittsfield made two errors.

The three deciding runs in the sixth came as the result of four walks and two hits.

Celtics Release Fast Break Magic To Whip Hawks In Finale, 122-103

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)— Embattled Boston released its fast break magic in the second period Saturday for a 122-103 victory over stubborn St. Louis and its third National Basketball Assn. Championship in four years.

Heavily burdened with fouls on its big men, the Celtics found the formula in the seventh and final game for a decisive 41-point second quarter. Spectacular reserve Sam Jones tallied 12 points and Frank Ramsey 10 in this span while play maker Bob Cousy got six assists and Bill Russell took command of the back boards.

This tense drama, unfolded before a turnaway Boston Garden crowd of 13,909 and a national television audience, appropriately featured the tireless Ramsey and towering Russell.

Russell contributed 22 points and control of the ball while Ramsey's steals, breaks, passes and drives threw the upset-bent Hawks off stride. Ramsey wound up with 24 points.

Ramsey's work was fitting because he was the star of the two-overtime, seventh game triumph by Boston over St. Louis three years ago when the Celtics won their first title. On loan from the Army, Ramsey then tallied the winning basket in a game which established the Celtics as basketball's most consistent power.

Russell again proved why Boston traded Cliff Hagan and Coach Ed MacCauley to St. Louis for him in 1956. Hagan had 19 points and Bob Pettit 22 for the Hawks Saturday.

With all the pressure focussed on this game which the teams entered deadlocked at three victories apiece, referees Jim Duffy and Mendy Rudolph called the fouls closely on the big men in the jostling for position and possession.

The Boston solution was to send in Sam Jones to work with Cousy which triggered a fast break to produce the second period impetus.

St. Louis entered the period leading 30-29 on Hagan's 60-foot desperation shot at the buzzer.

The Celtics quickly outscored the Hawks 14-2 in the next three minutes, including a run of 10 straight points.

At halftime the Celtics had a 70-53 bulge.

Citizens' Tax Committee Elects Full Slate To School Board Posts

Buchanan, Dowland, Becker Gain Seats By Large Majority

More than 3,500 voters in School District 117 elected a full slate of candidates endorsed by the "Citizens' Tax Committee" Saturday by a majority of approximately two-to-one. Saturday's voting set an all-time record for school board election history in Jacksonville.

Elected to three-year terms were: Bill W. Buchanan, a funeral director; J. Harry Dowland, real estate salesman and former board member; and Howard Becker, farmer and businessman. All three will be sworn-in Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Board of Education. The board will undergo a reorganization Tuesday night and select their new president.

'Clean Sweep'

All three candidates chalked up a "clean sweep" in each of the six precincts by substantial majorities.

Washington school precinct, scene of the heaviest voting throughout the district (1342), gave the three new members a majority of more than 100 votes each over incumbent Dr. E. C. Bone.

Approximately half of the voters who turned out to defeat a proposed increase in the educational tax levy in February were on hand to register their choice Saturday.

District 117 voters have thus indicated their desire to travel a path of "no increase in taxes" for school purposes, then returned to the polls to elect a full slate of candidates proposed by the "Citizen's Tax Committee."

Jacksonville Men In Thick Of Scramble For Congress, Legislature

By BIRCH B. RIDGWAY

Three Jacksonville men seeking Congressional and General Assembly seats will occupy the political spotlight Tuesday as members of both parties go to the polls in the primaries to choose standard bearers in the election next November.

Local color is further contributed to the primaries by the presence of a former Jacksonville man in a four-way race for Republican nomination for Congress.

Democrats also have a five-way contest for General Assembly underway, with two to be nominated.

Republican voters of Morgan county will settle two contests for nomination for county offices. There are no Democratic contests for county positions.

The four Republicans who aspire to the office now held by Congresswoman Edna Simpson reside in four different counties of the sprawling 14-county 20th district. Mrs. Simpson, who was elected for a two year term after the sudden death of her husband, Congressman Sid Simpson of Carrollton, was not a candidate for reelection.

Counties in the 20th district include Adams, Brown, Calhoun, Cass, Greene, Hancock, Jersey, Mason, McDonough, Menard, Morgan, Pike, Schuyler, and Scott.

Findley In Publishing Business

Paul Findley of Pittsfield, publisher of the Pike County Republican, is waging a vigorous campaign for Congress. He is a former Jacksonville man and a graduate of Illinois College. Findley's name appears at the top of the ballot for Congressman.

State's Attorney Alvin J. Ufkes of Adams county, a resident of Quincy, resides in the largest population center of the district. Whether the numerical voting strength of the Adams county area will figure in the result is yet to be seen.

Clyde W. Baulos of Bluffs is the third man on the Republican ballot who desires to represent this district at Washington. He is a former teacher and special government liaison officer, and has been devoting full time to his campaign.

Hall Former States Attorney

Attorney Albert W. Hall of Jacksonville, a former Morgan county state's attorney, is the fourth member of the quartet in the race. Hall, who is a member of the law firm of Robinson, Foreman, Rammelkamp, Bradney & Hall, is carrying on an active campaign in all sections of the district.

Ufkes supporters believe he will benefit by a heavy vote in the thickly-populated Quincy area, and that support of the other three candidates may be "divided," by their geographic locations. None of the three others concedes the Adams county candidate any advantage, however. Each man in the race is convinced that he is going to capture the nomination.

Green, Rowe Seek Nomination

Jacksonville's interest in the Republican race for Illinois General Assembly in the 49th district is two-fold.

State Rep. Hugh Green, a veteran in the legislature, and Attorney Harris Rowe, both of this city, are winding up active campaigns. Rep. H. B. Ihnen of Quincy is the third member of the trio running for representative. Two will be nominated.

Six counties make up the 49th district—Adams, Calhoun, Greene, Morgan, Pike and Scott.

Quincy, largest city in the district, again will be eyed intently as it is counted on to figure prominently in the nomination of Ihnen, together with one of the Jacksonville men. The Morgan county man who dents Adams county the hardest probably will be nominated.

Morgan county Republicans will have the job of putting their stamp of approval on opposing candidates in two contests for county officers.

GOP Race For Coroner

Dr. William B. Hartman, a local chiropodist, and John B. Martin, newspaper reporter and photographer, are competing for nomination for coroner.

Harry E. Thompson, a road commissioner for a number of years, and A. Paul Johnson, present chairman of the Morgan county board of commissioners, are rivals for Republican nomination.

Circuit Clerk Philip E. Bradish and State's Attorney Charles J. Ryan are unopposed for Republican nomination for reelection.

On the Democratic ballot for congressional nomination, Montgomery B. Carrott, Quincy automobile dealer, is opposed by Wilmer F. (Smokie) Osmeyer. Carrott was for some years a member of the Adams county board of supervisors.

William H. Winchester of this city is unopposed as a candidate for Republican representative committeeman.

A triple-threat contest in Democratic ranks is underway for representative in the general assembly, with State Rep. Carl H. Wittmond's name at the head of the list on the ballot. Wittmond resides at Brussels, where he is engaged in restaurant business and orchard operation.

Other aspirants for nomination include Maurice F. Harp, George W. Haubrich, Roy Williams, and W. Roy Donohoo. Two are to be nominated.

Sample Is Unopposed

Coroner Elmer O. Sample of Morgan county occupies a unique position, being the only Democrat to file for county office. He is unopposed in the primary.

John M. Clark is unopposed for representative committeeman.

All of Morgan county's 49 precincts will elect Republican and Democrat precinct committeemen.

Write In School Trustees

In addition to the political ballot of their preference, voters at the primary will be handed a small separate ballot on which to vote for Morgan county board of school trustees. Two positions are open on the board, and names must be written in on the ballots, as no petitions were filed for the seats available.

Those whose terms expire are Wallace T. Hembrough, chairman of the board, and Louise Harris, Dunlap hotel.

Both Mr. Hembrough and Mrs. Harris have indicated willingness to serve again if elected, but did not file petitions in time for their names to appear on the ballot.

Voters must write the names of the candidates of their choice in the space provided and make an "X" in the box at the left of the name, in order for the ballot to be counted.

Polls will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

The county clerk's office will remain open until all ballot sacks and poll books have been turned in.

Mrs. Gibson laid the background for Jane Addams' work at Hull House by describing her childhood and early family life. Physically handicapped herself, Jane Addams gave help to hundreds less fortunate and in various ways. With her co-worker Ellen Gates Starr she opened Hull House in 1889. Volunteer workers supplied a great need. Miss Addams' useful and unselfish life ended in 1935. In closing Mrs. Gibson quoted the wish of an author, "let us hope that everyone of the 170 million Americans, young as well as adult, will learn of Jane Addams' life this year and what it still means to the world."

CHILL FIRST

When you wish to whip evaporated milk, turn it into a refrigerator tray and chill until crystals form around the edge—this usually takes 15 to 20 minutes. Then whip until stiff, add the amount of lemon juice needed, and continue to whip until extremely stiff.

SAVES ON DISHES

It is perfectly safe to store part of a can of food not used in the original container. Because nowadays the inside of the container is lacquered, even an acid food such as tomatoes will not take on a metallic taste when stored this way for a few days.

Primary Preferences

The 1960 Primary election in Illinois is particularly important for Republicans. Though there are contests on the Democratic ticket, it is almost a foregone conclusion that the Cook county machine under Mayor Daley will deliver the gubernatorial nomination for Judge Otto Kerner and Senator Paul Douglas is unopposed for renomination for the Senate.

In this presidential year it is highly important for the G.O.P. to put up candidates who can win in November.

One of the most significant races is that for United States Senator. In our opinion Samuel W. Witwer leads the field by far in his ability and qualifications. We do not believe our friend Warren Wright, formerly of this county, would stand much chance of defeating Douglas. Witwer has the endorsement of all of the Chicago newspapers and even the St. Louis Post Dispatch concedes that he is the best Republican candidate.

In previous primaries we have not supported William G. Stratton for Governor, having preferred Rowe and later Wright. This time, however, we are glad to endorse Stratton for another term. While his record as Governor has at times been marred, we believe that from an overall standpoint he has administered the affairs of the State of Illinois exceptionally well.

In the race for Congress from the 20th District Morgan County has a well qualified candidate in Attorney Albert W. Hall, former State's Attorney and former City Attorney. Among Hall's principal opponents is Paul Findley, a former Jacksonville resident and now Pittsfield publisher. While Findley is also an able candidate, we would like to see a Morgan County man in Congress and therefore endorse Hall.

The contest for the state legislature has involved a spirited fight between the veteran Hugh Green and Harris Rowe, a Jacksonville alderman and chairman of the G.O.P. county central committee. While Green has the edge in experience and has acquired an enviable voting record over the years, Rowe has made a vigorous campaign and promises to be just as vigorous in the legislature. Both of these men are able and we rate their race a toss-up.

Flag Raising 'Phony'

(From Editor & Publisher)

Newspapers and news photographers—Joe Rosenthal in particular—were given an unmerited black eye Sunday night in a TV broadcast which labeled his Pulitzer Prize-winning picture of the Iwo Jima flag-raising as a "phony." It came out in an NBC play, "The American" based on the Merle Miller story of Ira Hayes, a Marine participant in that event who died in 1955.

The character playing the moody Indian Hayes said: "They'd taken about 10,000 pictures that day—everybody knew it was a phony. Everybody on the island was laughing about that phony flag-raising picture."

Thus millions of Americans were told an untruth, their faith in a photograph which has almost become a national symbol has been shattered, and the implication is left that photographers and newspapers, and the press services which distributed the pool picture, all conspired to deceive the public.

We doubt that "literary license" by the script's author required such misrepresentation. NBC in its epilogue to the program could have set the record straight, but it didn't. The author and NBC could have ascertained the facts if they had tried to. They have been published repeatedly since 1945 and the circumstances of the flag-raising and the Rosenthal picture have never been a secret.

There were two flag raisings on Mount Suribachi that day and both of them were reported at the time. The second one—where a larger flag replaced the first and where Rosenthal got his picture—was spontaneous, unposed and unrehearsed—while the Marines were still shooting it out with the Japanese. The raising of a small flag and its replacement by a larger one that could be seen from the whole island was adequately reported the day following—the day the picture was distributed.

The next month a Time magazine broadcast quoted its correspondent as saying the scene was reposed. Presented with the facts Time broadcast a correction and apology the following week. Rosenthal's own account of the flag-raising and picture was printed in Collier's in February, 1955. E&P that month quoted a story from the Knoxville News-Sentinel in which a fellow Marine reported Ira Hayes had told him aboard a troopship returning to the U.S.: "We then tied it down. Then a Marine hollered over to us and said our picture was taken. About 20 yards away we saw Joe Rosenthal and a couple of photographers. We didn't know they were taking our picture."

E&P also retold the entire story in its 75th Anniversary Issue June 27, 1959, filling in details which hadn't been generally known in 1945.

We don't know what steps NBC could take to correct the unjust and erroneous impression it has given to millions of viewers. We don't know that it will even try. Neither the newspapers, AP nor Rosenthal have ever tried to hide the fact that there were two flags. It has been well-publicized since the day it happened that the first and smaller flag raised on an iron pipe was photographed by an Army lensman but it was Rosenthal's action shot of raising the second and larger flag that contained the drama and received world-wide acclaim. In fact, the Pulitzer judges were fully cognizant of the double flag-raising when they suspended the rules to make the Rosenthal picture eligible for the 1945 prize.

We hope that the nation's newspapers will assist NBC in telling the true story to the American public. As Marine Gen. Holland M. Smith said this week: "It was no fake."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sonya Wilde, an atomic brunette from Oak Ridge, is a white Southern girl who plays a Negro in her first movie.

The movie, called "I Passed For White," is based on the problems of a light-skinned Negro who crosses the color line and marries a socialite. It's a sleeper.

What do friends in Tennessee think of her movie debut?

"They're all kind of proud of me," she says. "They know that a lot of big stars, Ava Gardner, Susan Kohner and others, have played Negro girls in movies. They see nothing unusual about it."

Sonya, 20, is part Irish and part Cherokee Indian. She has an unusual background: she has been in only one Broadway show and one movie—and starred in both.

"When I graduated from Oak Ridge High School at 17, my family sent me to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York and paid all my expense including separate singing and dancing lessons.

"I can't say I've suffered."

Her folks are not wealthy. Her father is an instrument engineer for the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

One day, after some summer stock experience, she read for producers Harold Prince and Robert Griffith. They hired her as Carol Lawrence's understudy in 'West Side Story.'

Before she even had a chance to rehearse, Miss Lawrence left the show and Sonya took over the role of the young Puerto Rican girl in the modernized musical version of 'Romeo and Juliet.'

After the Broadway run, the show went on the road. When it hit the West Coast, producer-director Fred Wilcox grabbed her for "I Passed For White."

"I have yet to play a Caucasian girl," she adds. She has already had one interview for the movie version of the "West Side Story," but the director told her, without audition, that she's not the type.

Definition of Camel Is Horse of Different Color; When Meal's Ingredients Elude You, Stifle Curiosity

By JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas D. White, who has had his share of testifying before congressional committees and has been duly criticized along with all the rest of the Pentagon brass for trying to run the Defense Department by committees, submits this definition of a camel:

It's a horse built by a committee.

A FRIEND of Sen. Hiram L. Fong (R-Hawaii) was invited to a big Chinese dinner on her recent trip to Hong Kong. What fascinated her most about the dishes was that she could not identify the ingredients.

When the cook came to clear away the plates, she cracked: "Chang, I do hope that you did not go out on the street and kill a dog to make our dinner."

"No, no, missee," the cook replied. "Chang no killee dog. When Chang pickee dog up, dog already dead."

ANOTHER OF FONG'S favorite stories concerns two tourists in Washington who saw a Chinese diplomat dressed in a long, embroidered silk robe. One thought the diplomat must be a woman, the other a man. Unable to agree, they decided to ask.

The diplomat replied:

"Both of you are right, I am a lady's man."

The request which Widnall received, however, referred to it as "Human and Gardening Policy."

"What bothers me," Widnall said, "is if this means my constituents want to learn how to inter a congressman."

Takes a Heap of Kindness To Make a 'Home' a Home

BY MARIE DAERR

When a person enters a nursing home or a home for the aged, he or she may exchange a spacious house or an apartment for half a room.

Staff and volunteers should respect the persons privacy and make him feel that this space really belongs to him. Even a maid can further this aim by knocking on the door of the room before she enters to dust or sweep.

These tips on helping keep residents of homes as happy as possible were given at an institute on care of the aged and chronically ill in philanthropic, private and county homes, at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

"Staff members must take the attitude that they are entering a service that means more than a pay check,'" said Mrs. Helen K. Weil, of Montefiore Home.

Miss Georgina Greene, assistant director of nursing service at Benjamin Rose Hospital, advised homes to pick volunteers who are "kind and easy-going, and who laugh easily."

"Volunteers should be able to shift gears in their thinking when they go from one person to another," Miss Greene said. "They shouldn't be nasty-neat.

"They should call patients by name, even ask their advice occasionally."

A plea for more participation by relatives in the life of homes came from Mrs. Susan Ritchie, the same hospital's director of occupational therapy.

"Families shouldn't desert the person who enters a home," Mrs. Ritchie said. "They will make life happier for him if they take him for a walk, write a letter for him, even sit a few moments on the porch with him.

"Remember, the home resident will spend a half-hour or more getting ready for that visit."

"We must recognize nursing homes and homes for the aged as places where people must live out their later years, impaired by their own infirmities,' said Miss Margaret Wagner, former Benjamin Rose Institute director. "We owe these people love, security and spiritual comfort."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy—apostle of the moving duck theory as against the sitting duck—would like to be this country's first line of defense. It may never be, but it's making progress.

Since World War II the seagoing arm of national defense has been overshadowed by the development of the fast, long-range bomber and the intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

Even the worth of the aircraft carriers, with their short-range planes, looked questionable.

Then the Navy began development of an atomic-powered submarine capable of firing the Polaris missile, with a nuclear warhead, 1,200 miles. In time it hopes to have 45 such subs. It has only two afloat now. None will be in operation till fall.

This week President Eisenhower approved stepping up the production rate. In three years the Navy may have 21 of these submarines which can stay out of sight of an enemy, slip close to a continent, and start firing.

Each Polaris sub can fire 16 missiles.

The Navy's big pitch for the Polaris-missile submarine can be summed up this:

An enemy would know the launching sites of this country's ICBMs and its shorter range missiles abroad because they'd be on fixed platforms, immovable. They'd then be sitting ducks for enemy missiles turned loose in a surprise attack.

But the Polaris submarines are like moving ducks whose locations would be unknown to an enemy and—in case an enemy began a missile attack on this country—could fire their own 1,200-mile range missiles against any enemy target.

And they'd be out of sight while they did it.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, has argued that if a nuclear war started—since all the destruction would be on land on both continents—the Navy, not a stationary target, would be the only defense line left.

But Burke doesn't sell the aircraft carrier short, either, and naturally, since he's an admiral. No matter what anyone else thinks of the future role of carriers, the Navy brass is high on them.

But there's a difference between the use of a carrier and the use of a Polaris submarine. The former would be at its best in a limited war, such as around Formosa. The Polaris-submarine missile would be mainly for all-out nuclear war.

Burke has spoken out a number of times on the two subjects:

"As long as you need manned aircraft for any type of warfare, you'll need carriers. And you'll need manned aircraft as long as you need search and attack missions where you've got to look for your target before you strike it."

He has described the use of the Polaris sub this way:

It "is good for only one thing—to destroy cities. It's the best city destroyer in the world. It will destroy any city you want — any place, any time. That's all it's good for, though.

"It's no good for destroying a village. It's a good weapon for mass destruction. Carriers on the other hand can do mass destruction if they want to, but that is not their primary job."

The Navy also puts up this argument: A Polaris sub costs about 100 million dollars. Forty-five of them would cost 4½ billion dollars. But they would last for about 20 years.

Glamour Gals of Yesteryear Are Just That—Despite TV

TV may be able to intimidate the American housewife with photographic trickery such as thick cake icings, the likes of which she is never able to duplicate in her own kitchen since she can't get by with "icing" her cake with shaving cream.

But one thing, for sure, TV hasn't been able to do as yet is to take an aging glamour gal and make her look like anything but what she is.

Whenever TV trots out one of these fortyish or fiftyish ex-glamour gals in a romantic lead, the cameras don't lie well enough to make her look like anything but what she is, a middle-aged woman who should have quit trying to be a glamour girl years ago.

"I can remember when I thought she was really something," Pop says with a touch of sadness and disbelief as actors seem to think they can make an ex-glamour girl seem like the real thing if they will surround her with young actors who are supposed to be smitten by her irresistible charms.

But this trickery never rings true. So Papa looks sad to see one of the idols of his youth looking every bit her age while trying desperately to look young.

And then he glances over at Mama—and all of a sudden he realizes that the years haven't wreaked the havoc on her that they have on the one-time glamour queen.

Mama hasn't had to starve herself until she has a gaunt, hard look. Mama hasn't held on to the mannerisms of youth that look incongruous when practiced by a middle-aged woman. Mama's face has softened through the years spent in devotion to others.

And when Papa says, as though thinking out loud, "She must be years older than you are," Mama smiles a smile of deep content. TV hasn't found any way to humiliate her by making ex-glamour queens look as though the years hadn't touched them. Thank goodness for that!

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Jesus: Savior and Teacher

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The profound fact concerning Jesus of Nazareth in the Four Gospels, and in the New Testament, is that He is Savior and Redeemer.

The Apostle Paul rightly express the truth concerning his Master when he puts all the emphasis upon "the gospel of the grace of God." But Jesus himself, while He said that He was born to bear witness to truth, likened Himself to a shepherd seeking lost sheep.

In the Parables of the Ninety-and-Nine, of the Prodigal Son, and of the Lost Pieces of Silver (Luke 15), He made it plain that His mission on earth was as Savior and Redeemer.

It was the salvation and redemption from sin to righteousness, from what life had been to newness of life. Paul represented it as a death of the old man into a newness of living "in Christ" (Galatians 2:20).

So the gospel of salvation and redemption was the gospel of a new way of life. Paul and his Master were as much teachers as ministers of the gospel of redemption.

Paul's role as teacher had much to do with the problems of conduct and adjustment in the new Christian society of the churches he founded, but his greatest word of general guidance was in I Corinthians 13, the chapter of love.

But the teaching of Jesus went to the very foundations of character and conduct, the true worths and value of living, for man in his own life and in his relations with His fellow men. This basic teaching was in the exposition of the nature of a Kingdom of God that He said was "not of this world."

It meant a crucial, fundamental challenge to what have been, and still are, predominantly the thinking and acting of people in "this world"—self interest, getting ahead, ambition for wealth or power, and the domination of others, with all the milder aspects of self-centered living.

Against all this Jesus set the principles and values of His Kingdom: the consecration of one's life in love to God and man's love to his fellow man based on the love God has toward us.

But the distinctive fact about the teaching of Jesus was that this basis of love was not just a lofty sentiment, a vague generalization. Jesus brought it down to specific aspects and cases.

Greatness, He made it plain, was not in terms of "this world" but consisted in service. To make it clearer to disciples warring over place and prominence in the anticipated kingdom, He washed the disciples' feet. Probably the disciples got their lesson, but how little men in general, even professing Christians, seem to have profited by it!

Humility, which in the teaching of Jesus was the greatest of virtues, seemingly has been forgotten if one considers the ways in which men strive to outdo one another.

Yet, when one thinks of it, how right Jesus was even in worldly wisdom and values, apart from His spiritual authority. More than we realize it, even in a world so dominated by self-interest, we approve in our inmost thinking the worths and standards of values of Jesus.

The truly great ones are the servants—the Dr. Grenfels, the Albert Schweitzers, the Father Damiens, the humble and devoted teachers, the ministers to others.

STEEL OR FABRIC?

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel with polka-dot or multi-colored patterns?

It's likely in the near future, according to "Steelways," publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, which predicts that steel researchers also will devise a surface that will have the feel of fabric.

The magazine says the development could create a new world of steel designs for household appliances, offices, buildings and automobiles.

"Steelways" predicts that it may become impossible in the future to identify steel at first glance or touch.

Perk Up, O Jaded Palates, For Superb Easter Dinner

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise
Food and Markets Editor

As fresh as spring, as happy as Easter is the best way to describe these two unusual recipes from Joseph H. Baum, one of the world's outstanding creators of new ways to combine foods.

For a first course:

Maple-Glazed Roulade of Turkey Stuffed With Swiss Chard (Serves 8)

Sixteen thin slices of breast of turkey, 3 bunches Swiss chard, 6 shallots, chopped fine; ½ onion, diced; 1 stick butter, ½ cup consomme, ¾ cup beef gravy or stock, ¾ cup maple syrup.

Brown shallots and onion in butter. Add consomme. Braise Swiss chard in this mixture for 15 minutes. Season with salt and pepper to taste and set aside. When Swiss chard mixture is cool, roll into turkey slices and place in shallow oven dish. Cover with beef gravy, then maple syrup. Bake for 15 minutes in moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees F.) and serve.

For a main course:

Medallions of Veal in Parmesan, French Bread Crumbs and Grated Lemon Rind (Serves 8)

Sixteen pieces of veal for scallopini (very thin), 3 cups fresh bread crumbs, 2 cups Parmesan cheese, grated rind of 5 lemons, 3 beaten eggs, ¾ cup oil or shortening, flour.

Dip veal in flour, then egg, then in mixture of bread crumbs, cheese and lemon rind. Saute in oil or shortening on both sides until golden brown, and serve.

EASTER DINNER: Shrimp cocktail, medallions of veal in Parmesan, fresh bread crumbs and lemon rind, Duchess potatoes, broiled tomato halves, French rolls, fresh asparagus vinaigrette, melon filled with compote of fresh fruit, coffee, tea milk.

MOTHER, SON DOING FINE. This picture was taken just a few hours after baby arrived last Tuesday. Mrs. Wilma Colclasure is the owner of the mare, one of the few imported Welsh ponies in the Jacksonville area.

The mare, Eppynt Negress, is a recent immigrant. She was shipped from Breconshire, Wales, to Canada several months ago. Mrs. Colclasure drove to Canada to purchase her and had been quite busy making preparations for the colt's arrival, which happened at 5 a.m.

Welsh ponies are slightly larger than the more popular Shetlands. Chances are good that horse show fans will have an opportunity to see Eppynt Negress at the Morgan County Fair next August.

Change Testing Procedures For Hybrids

URBANA — Commercial hybrid corn testing at the University of Illinois is aiming for "on-the-farm" conditions.

Agronomist E. R. Leng last week said that U. of I. test plots were mechanically harvested for the first time in 1959. Hand harvesting had determined hybrid yields before.

"As another way to match farm conditions, test plots are now tilled and fertilized regular style. And this year we will use mechanical planting," Leng said.

"All this is designed to supply Illinois farmers more practical guides in selecting commercial corn hybrids."

Leng said the College of Agriculture tested 523 hybrids last season at ten locations scattered throughout the state. Each year the results are published in the bulletin, "Performance of Commercial Corn Hybrids in Illinois." The 1959 results are contained in Bulletin 651, available from the College of Agriculture, Urbana, or from any farm adviser.

In selecting hybrids, Leng had these suggestions for farmers:

—Draw on long-term performance information, such as that given in the Illinois bulletin. Several years of test results are more reliable than single-year figures.

—Discuss choices with your salesman or seed representative, and talk over additional recommendations he may have.

—Select several hybrids for planting. It's risky to put all eggs in one basket unless you have found one hybrid that is absolutely perfect for your farm.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

WILL FARMERS PLANT TOO MUCH CORN?

All winter long we have been hearing and reading stories that farmers were planning big increases in corn acreages this year. Reliable figures on farmers' plans are now available from the U. S. D. A. report on "Prospective Plantings for 1960... released March 18. The figures do not provide much support for these popular winter tales. They do show that farmers in the corn belt are planning small increases in corn plantings, while other farmers will plant less.

The official report contains 34 pages and covers 16 major crops in 48 states. It is one of the regular annual reports that have been compiled and published by the U. S. D. A. for many years.

The report shows that farmers in Illinois planned to plant 10,362,000 acres of corn, or only 3 percent more than last year. Farmers in other corn-belt states reported plans to increase corn acreage as follows: Iowa, 3 percent; Missouri, 6 percent; Ohio, Indiana and Nebraska, 1 percent. Minnesota reported no change.

These increases were offset by cuts in corn acreages planned in souther nand western states. The total U. S. planned acreage is 85,758,000, or 3/10 percent more than last year. That is too small to be statistically significant.

Back To Corn Belt

As would be expected, the corn is being moved to the higher yielding areas. This trend has been under way for many years.

Illinois farmers plan to grow a record share of the nation's corn acreage in 1960. They plan to plant 10,362,000 acres this year, which would be 12.1 percent of the U. S. total acreage of corn. Last year Illinois farmers planted 11.8 percent of corn, and in the 10 years 1949-1958 they planted 11.1 percent. Thirty years ago, in 1930, Illinois farmers planted 9,353,000 acres, which was only 9.0 percent of the nation's corn fields. On a percentage basis, the Illinois share of the corn acreage has increased by one-third in the past 30 years. This increase is important to Illinois farmers, since corn is our most profitable major crop.

Peak Was In 1932

While corn acreage has been increasing in Illinois, it has been decreasing in the nation as a whole. Nationally corn acreage reached its peak in 1932, when 113 million acres were planted. The less than 86 million acres planned this year is 24 percent less than was planted in 1932.

While U. S. farmers have planned to hold the corn acreage at last year's level, they are planning to cut the acreage of oats by 5 percent and the acreage of barley by 4 percent. They reported that they would hold sorghum plantings at the 1959 level.

Soybean acreage, they said, would be increased by 6 percent. Such an increase is not unusual for soybeans. They planned to cut spring wheat seedings by 9 percent. The acreage of winter wheat, seeded last fall, is about the same as that of a year ago.

The late spring may cut into intended seedings of spring small grains and thus cause farmers to plant more corn than they reported in March.

If farmers plant corn as they reported, and if yields are equal to the high average of the past five years, total production will be about 4.0 billion bushels, or 8 percent less than last year.

Changes In Handling, Marketing Livestock Present New Problem

Sweeping changes in the livestock market organization has left the average farmer in a difficult position to evaluate alternative market outlets, a University of Illinois livestock marketing economist says.

E. E. Broadbent stated that a farmer today must tie in with some organization to help him realize the full value of the stock he has to sell. This may be either a private or a cooperative agency, he pointed out.

The rapid changes in marketing livestock are due to quick communication, modern roads, quick cure of meats, advances in refrigeration and processing equipment, change in types of producing units and size of retail outlets and obsolescence in packing plants and facilities. These forces have played havoc with the older established livestock market organization.

Broadbent described the closing down of the major slaughtering plants at Chicago as part of "the steady evolution in the rise, domination and decline in relative importance of terminal markets in our livestock economy."

Markets, Plants Scatter

He pointed out that, in 1923, 77 percent of the hogs slaughtered under federal inspection were sold through terminal public markets. Today less than 40 percent are sold through terminals. Today over half of all market hogs are sold directly to local packers or country buyers. Along with this change has come the dispersion of packing and processing plants to points closer to where livestock are produced.

Cattle and hog slaughter in Illinois has now fallen below the numbers produced on Illinois farms. But the packing industry still maintains a considerable volume of business in the state, Broadbent pointed out. He reported that Swift and Co. is now building a new plant in Rochelle. Hormel is planning a move to a location near Princeton. Reports are that Rath Packing Co. is anticipating a move to Columbus Junction, Iowa, just across the Mississippi River from major Illinois hog-producing areas.

Good, Or Bad?

Whether these marketing changes are good or bad for the livestock industry, Broadbent said, depends on the answers to these questions:

1. How well informed are producers when they make direct sales at their local marketing points?
2. Do farmers compare prices paid and service rendered for the same classes of livestock at different market outlets?
3. Does the change in market structure alter the competitive situation?
4. Are market prices guiding production so that producers are sending to market the kinds of animals that make products consumers want to buy?

Whether a farmer sells at the country point or at the terminal market is not too important if he is as well informed as the buyer or has someone represent him who is as well informed. But, operating on his own, the livestock producer may not be in an equal bargaining position, Broadbent concluded.

The Midwest today produces only 71 percent of the fed cattle. During the 1930's the corn belt fattened 83 percent.

To Arrange 1960 IFEY Program Wednesday

Two Morgan county families will go to Macomb Wednesday to help make plans for this year's International Farm Youth Exchange program. They will meet with other families of west central Illinois who have expressed a willingness to be host to some foreign rural boy or girl for two weeks or more this summer.

The group will meet at 10 a.m. at the Patio Lounge of Western Illinois University.

Representing Morgan county will be Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Heaton, rural route 3, Winchester, and Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap, Millwood Manor.

"Of course, we don't know that any IFEY will be assigned to Morgan county this summer," says Bob Hayward, Jr., assistant farm adviser. "But current plans indicate at least 30 foreign exchangees will be in Illinois this summer and we'll need about 70 host families."

Morgan county farm families have been host to several IFEYs since the program began 10 years ago.

Adams Farm Girl Picks M'Murray

An Adams county farm girl who won one of the second annual Otto Steffey memorial scholarships will enter MacMurray College next September.

She is Beverly Ann Buzzard, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Buzzard.

Three full-tuition four-year scholarships are offered annually in honor of Otto Steffey, Illinois Agricultural association president who died in May, 1958. For 17 years he was a trustee of the Associated Colleges of Illinois.

Only children of Farm Bureau members are able to compete for the scholarships, which are awarded on the basis of scholastic records, plus school and community activities.

The other winners are Thomas A. Guild of Colona, who will enter Augustana College at Rock Island, and Miss Margye Liebler, who has chosen Knox College, Galesburg.

The Easter Story

By Mary Pence Claywell

Part I: In the Garden

The Passover (a Jewish holy time) soon was ended, and Judas the Traitor went to gather a group of soldiers, to carry out his intent.

He ordered the men to take lanterns, to search in the Garden there, for the shadows might well hide Jesus, and things must be done with care!

The Master had gone to the Garden with Peter, and James, and John, and He bade them wait there in patience . . . for He knew that His hour had come. Then apart, He knelt in the shadows, alone in the gathering gloom, His Dear Heart heavy with sadness . . . awaiting the hour of doom!

Watchers Sleep

"Tarry ye here," said Jesus, "whilst I go yonder and pray;" but the men soon slept in the shadows, before Jesus was far away. Jesus, despised and rejected, soon to die for man's sin, reproved the sleeping men, Peter, and James, and John. The three then returned to pray again.

But Angels from Heaven were present, as He knelt in His sorrow there. The Father had sent them from Glory, His burdens and grief to share:

"If this cup may not pass from me," were the words of God's Precious Son, "except I drink it," He prayed to God, "Thy will, not Mine, be done!"

Three times, He awakened the sleepers, and told them, "The hour is come," for He heard the tread of the soldiers, and knew that His work was done:

His teaching of crowds in the Temple . . . the healing of halt and lame, and His touching the sightless eyes of those who prayed in His Holy Name!

What Lives In Water But Is Not A Fish?

By N. Richard

Part 2: "Thar She Blows"

This continues (from last Sunday) the story of that great creature that lives in water but is not a fish—the whale that breathes, not with gills, but air as we do.

Their body temperature is lower than ours (about 96.8 as compared with our 98.6) and they need less oxygen per minute than we do.

This coupled with the fact that they have a huge lung capacity, enabled them to remain submerged for as much as 45 minutes. This submerged time is usually about 10 minutes, though.

The whale is further adapted to its environment because the nostrils are located on top of the head in a modified form. As the whale surfaces, it releases carbon dioxide and water.

The water, which is warm, is caused to condense by the colder air all around it. This gives the appearance that water is being blown from the blowhole. Actually, there is no spouting.

Food habits of the whales may be a source of interest also. Some eat fish, squid, and cuttlefish, but others eat quantities of plankton. This is the name for microscopic organisms (so small you cannot see them without a microscope) which float on or at the surface of the ocean. It is strange that the eaters of such small food include the whales which grow to be the largest animals to ever have existed.

It is extremely valuable and is used for the base of fine perfumes. When fresh it has a foul odor which we cannot tolerate.

Many secrets are still held by the whales in their depths. Gradually they will come to light, but the whale will not lose its fascination to us.

The Giant Springs near Great Falls, Mont., have a daily flow of 388 million gallons of water.

Let's Go Birding —

What Color Do You Call It?

By Emma Mae Leonhard

If our kind friends and readers did not report to us about their experiences with birds, we would sometimes run out of something to write about. However, they haven't let us down as yet.

On Tuesday, March 22, Miss Ruby Mann told us of a Purple Finch that had come to her feeding station on Prospect Street. The following day Miss Ann Stevenson telephoned us that at least two Purple Finches were feeding at her station.

In both cases these finches were dining on sunflower seeds and some smaller seeds also. Although Richard H. Pough states in his Audubon Bird Guide that Purple Finches readily go to feeding stations and like sunflower seeds, hemp, and the various millets, this is the first time that we have received such a report from our area. Both Miss Mann and Miss Stevenson were rightly pleased with their visitants.

Undoubtedly the heavy snows have brought the birds into Jacksonville. Perhaps some of you have also seen them.

The Purple Finch is hardly a good name to describe this sparrow-sized bird. Instead of the word purple, authorities have used various colors: raspberry, old-rosy red, wine-purple, pinkish wine-purple, and so on.

When you see this beautiful bird, you will have to choose your own color. We like raspberry.

Of course those colors apply to only the adult male finch. The females and the immatures, which are far more plentiful in a flock, are heavily striped brown sparrow-like birds with a broad, whitish line over the eyes.

This broad white line over the eye and the heavy streaking are the best identification marks. The bill is larger and stouter than that of streaked sparrows.

Even if the Purple Finch can't rival our glamorous Cardinal in color and activity, it does sing more beautifully. From the top of a tree, preferably an evergreen, he delivers his song, a rapid, easily following, melodious warble.

We hope that you will soon add this raspberry-pink bird to your bird list.

Missionary Barrel

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

Part 2: What Use Is This?

Long ago people put their castoffs in a "Missionary Barrell" and this went to more needy folks. Here, a group is busy looking at the treasures.

A heavy overcoat was the right size for Mr. Smith who had none, then wraps and hoods found needy owners.

Now a wrinkled something, dingy and frayed was passed from hand to hand," what shall we do with this? It is too ragged to wear to church; it won't keep any one warm, and trimmed with beads!

"Why couldn't it have been something useful?" and they shook their heads disappointedly over a shabby black velvet basque.

Then they reached deep in the barrel for a heavy folded bundle. "Lift it cautiously," a quiet voice warned. "A splinter or a nail will snag it."

Far down four hands groped to raise a bulky, soft and warm new quilt, thickly padded like a comfort, and backed with new calico printed with leaves and vines.

The block pieces were new and clear, dark reds and blues from little boys' shirts, lighter pinks and blues from little girls' dresses, plainer colors from a grandmother's wrappers and delicate patterns from grown-ups frocks.

"My, Oh, My! Who needs it most!" There wasn't a lady there who didn't wish for that warm quilt.

The mothers looked at it longingly, "Does any one need it more than I?" came their thoughts, but not one spoke.

At last the oldest member said "We might give it to our minister's family. They do not have enough either."

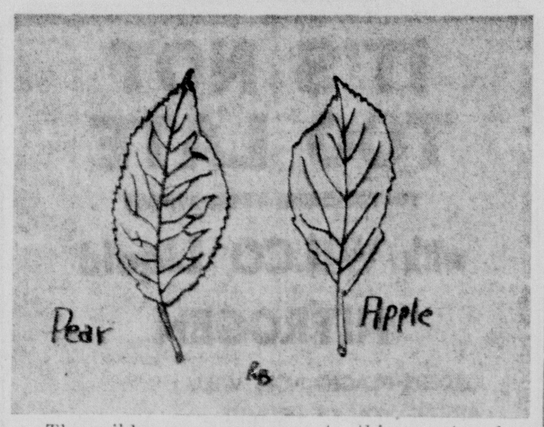
PEAR AND APPLE



The wild pear came over to this country from Europe. When growing wild, the fruit is more round than pear-shaped. The flowers are borne in clusters.

The apple was also brought over to this country from Europe.

Many legends are connected with the apple, the most famous ones dealing with Johnny Appleseed, who was supposed to have left the seeds that started up many of the orchards in the Ohio River Valley.

Apples grown from seed produce somewhat poor fruit. In order to get good fruit, it is usually necessary to graft the seedling stock.

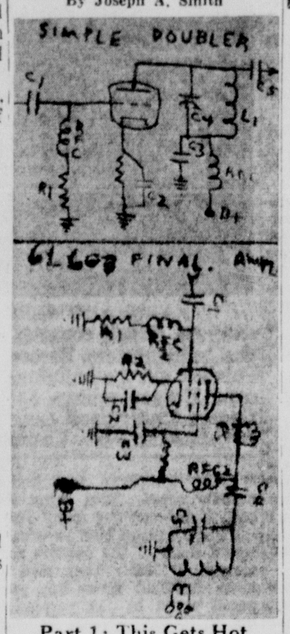
Single Ended Final Amplifier

By Joseph A. Smith



Part 1: This Gets Hot

For simplicity we shall consider how a single ended final amplifier works. (See A.R.R.L. diagrams for such examples of small single ended final amplifiers as 6BQ6GT, 6DQ6G, 6146, etc.) Grid drive from a previous buffer-doubler or harmonic is coupled through inter-stage coupling capacitor C1 to the final grid.

Grid bias is supplied by the usual grid biasing resistor R1 and the cathode biasing resistor R2. Of course C2 and C3 are the normal cathode and screen grid bypass capacitors.

To read cathode current with a milliameter a jack is installed in series with the cathode line. The screen voltage is again dropped, in the usual I times R method, down to the proper amount through R3. One can see that, in this case, the plate circuit consists of a shunt-type of arrangement wherein plate voltage reaches the plate through the R. F. choke (direct current and voltage passes through it, but R. F. can't.); output from the final plate is taken off and coupled through to the plate tank (C5 & L1 through coupling capacitor C4. The plate tank may be tuned to either the fundamental of second harmonic.

How It Works

How does it work, you ask? Well something like this. R. F. grid drive is applied to the grid, current flows through the cathode circuit, the tube, the parasetic suppressor choke, the R.F. choke, and on into the B-plus side of the power supply.

This incoming signal is amplified greatly inside the tube, and is applied to the plate tank which is tuned to the desired frequency and band. Output from this plate tank can be taken off either by means of a link winding on the coil L1 or by the Pie-Tank method.

It is important that the Static Plate Current (that current that flows through the tube during periods when no grid drive is applied) be held to a safe limit; R2 does this by placing a fixed amount of bias on the final amplifier at all times. Careful! It Gets Hot!

The Kitten Speaks

By Mabel Hall Goltra

Part 1: Visiting

I went to visit one warm day
With one wee puss a mile away.
My family took me and my cup;
In their grand car I cuddled up.

They also took a pint of milk.
And not a drop of it was spilt.
Lo, as we stopped before the house,
I made a wish: to see a mouse.

The day was warm, I felt fatigued,
So in my mind, I had agreed
That if I found a lovely place
I'd snatch a nap for one brief space.

My hostess brought a little pan,
And poured the milk from out the can.
It tasted, I will say, just fine;
But home sickness came on in time.

I tried the big chair in the room;
My hostess did not bring the broom,
And then a great big couch I spied;
So that at once I also tried.

CORN! MORE OR LESS?

U.S.D.A. says U. S. Farmers expect to plant 85,758,000 acres of corn in 1960. Illinois farmers are expected to plant 10,362,000 acres in '60. This is 12.1% of the U. S. Total. In 1930 the U. S. had 113,000,000 acres of corn and Illinois farmers planted 9,353,000 acres. Production is expected to be 4,000,000,000 bu. in 1960.

FEWER BEGINNING FARMERS

F. J. Reiss, University of Illinois Economist estimates that under present conditions only about 12 to 15 men will be able to start farming for each 1,000 farms in Illinois.

TIMES DO CHANGE!

Last year there were fewer hogs and cattle slaughtered in Illinois than were produced in the state.

FROM THE CORN CRIB

Gilbert Todd brought this one back from a recent F. P. R. A. meeting:

Prof: Will you please describe a successful farmer?

Across the Fields and Furrows is brought to you daily at 12:45 P.M. on WLDS, 1180 on your dial by the people at Elliott State Bank.

Conservation Reserve Plan Limits Crops

Every farmer who has cropland under a conservation reserve contract this year must be sure to comply with any acreage allotments on the farm and also to observe his permitted acreage of soil bank base crops, Wilbur C. Williams, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee said Friday.

Generally speaking, he said, the permitted acreage on a soil bank farm is the amount of land on which grains and row crops may be produced. It consists of the historical acreage of such crops less the amount of land placed in the Conservation Reserve. A farmer who exceeds this permitted acreage or any acreage allotment on the farm may lose his annual rental payment, and also be subject to a civil penalty.

When all eligible cropland on a farm is in the soil bank, the permitted acreage is zero, the ASC official said. The home garden area on such a farm may be used to produce crops for home use. Ineligible land on such farms may be used for forestry production or pasture. Hay cannot be harvested from ineligible land, and production of any soil bank base crop on the farm would be a contract violation.

Germination O.K. In Beans Tested

Reports of poor germinating ability of soybeans harvested in Illinois last fall continue to be heard, but the quality of local soybeans appears to be high.

This is based on a relatively few samples tested at the Farm Bureau by Rowena Enke, laboratory technician.

The 45 samples brought in averaged very high, with a germination of 96%. One sample, though, was down to 75% and another one hit only 81%.

Mrs. Enke also tested 28 samples of oats. They tested 93%, but one sample was down to 75%.

Breeding Association Reports Progress

Agriculture Extension workers of this area were in Breese, Clinton county, Wednesday to inspect the facilities and to hear of the progress of the Southern Illinois Breeding association.

The cooperative was formed 14 years ago to provide artificial breeding service for dairy cows. It now has 16,000 active members in 40 downstate counties and last year bred 73,000 cows.

The association has 55 bulls, some of them of distinct superiority, in the six dairy breeds, plus two beef breeds: Angus and Hereford.

The cooperative was formed to enable members to get the service of superior bulls at nominal cost. It was especially designed to help the farmer who had only a few cows, not enough to warrant the expense and bother, and danger, of keeping a good bull on the place.

The managers reported Wednesday that 69% of their members have fewer than six cows, but that larger herd owners are turning to artificial breeding in ever increasing numbers.

They also reported considerable up-grading progress.

They said the average cow in Illinois produces 7,000 pounds of milk annually, the daughters of SIBA produce 10,000, and the daughters of proved SIBA sires produce 12,000.

These figures were tabulated by IBM computers installed three years ago.

The management announced that semen from superior bulls owned by nationally known dairies and other associations is now available to SIBA members. Prospects of an international pool grow brighter every day, they say.

To aid in this part of the program the management announced a new plan where it will collect, process and store semen from privately-owned bulls.

The current breeding fee is $7 per cow and the SIBA fieldman for this area is Charles Craig, Jr., of Murrayville, with offices at the Farm Bureau.

Decreased Net Income Ends Farm Land Boom

The booming farm land market of recent years has collapsed. The latest U. S. Department of Agriculture reports show that Illinois farm land values dropped 1 percent from July to November last year.

The best farms offered for sale in recent months show a decline of $25 to $100 an acre, reports University of Illinois agricultural economist F. J. Reiss.

Reiss lists three major causes for the downtrend: relatively low net returns, high mortgage interest rates and high-equity capital requirements to pay off remaining debt.

Farm business records show that many landlords have been getting only about a 3 percent return on their capital investment in land that has been selling for $600 an acre. Many investments with comparable security are yielding higher returns, Reiss points out.

First mortgage interest rates are now at 5½ to 6 percent. These rates are about double the present earning power of money invested in well-managed good farmland at recent high prices.

Reiss figures that with current returns to landowners and 6 percent mortgage interest on $600 land, the buyer with a 50 percent down payment would earn only enough to pay the interest on his debt. He would have nothing left to pay off the principal. The tenant who goes in debt to buy a farm would almost certainly reduce his level of living to meet interest and principal payments.

Installment land contracts reduce the required down payment. But the remaining debt is a large portion of the total purchase price, and interest charges are much higher than when down payments are larger. The higher interest cost and principal might add up to more than the total net income from the farm under present conditions, Reiss concludes.

Outlook Meeting Set For April 30

The spring livestock meeting will be held in Jacksonville Wednesday, April 20, announces Farm Adviser George A. Trull. The annual event will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Farm Bureau hall and all interested persons are invited to attend.

A U.I. animal science specialist will report on livestock numbers, feed supplies and the economic outlook and a representative of the St. Louis Producers Marketing association will give the results of its spring survey dealing with stock on feed and announced marketing intentions.

Cattlemen planning to pasture steers this summer should work them up to a full feed of grain during April. This applies mostly to steers that have been wintered on rations composed largely of roughages with little grain.

MURRAYVILLE CLUB TO ORGANIZE

There will be a meeting at the Murrayville grade school Monday, at 7:30 p.m., to organize an agriculture 4-H club, announces Bob Haywood, Jr., assistant farm adviser.

"I would like all potential members and parents to attend this meeting," Haywood said. "There's plenty of ability in the Murrayville community to build a 4-H club second to none."

MORGAN ASSESSOR ADDRESSES YOUTH

Robert Schall of Concord, Morgan county supervisor of assessments, was the speaker Thursday evening when the Rural Youth met at Farm Bureau hall.

He discussed tax rates, assessment of personal property and real estate, and the application of the multiplier.

A question and answer period was followed by recreation.

Illinois farmers are increasing the share of the market for hogs. They produced 11.5 percent of the nation's hogs in the ten years 1948-57 and 12.4 percent last year. In the corn belt alone, Illinois farmers produced 16.5 percent of the winter pigs in 1949-58 and 17.5 percent this year.

Ask your farm adviser for the leaflet, "1960 Beef Cattle Feeding Suggestions." It contains the latest information on developments in beef cattle feeding, such as stilbestrol, antibiotics, urea and so forth.

Name Gordon E. Michalson Tenth MacMurray President

DR. GORDON E. MICHALSON

Appoint Theology Professor To Take Over Duties July 1st

Dr. Gordon E. Michalson, Professor of Historical Theology at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, becomes 10th President of MacMurray College July 1, it was announced Friday after trustees met.

He succeeds Dr. Louis W. Norris, who resigned to accept the presidency of Albion College, Albion, Michigan. Dr. Norris, who has been with MacMurray since July 1, 1952, said: "I am delighted with the appointment of Dr. Michalson as the next President of MacMurray. He will bring to his new assignment a keen mind, broad experience in Christian education, and a perceptive grasp of problems confronting college youth."

Special Session

MacMurray trustees met Friday in special session to approve the recommendation of their Executive Committee, which in turn had received unanimous approval of Dr. Michalson from a faculty-trustee committee. The latter consisted of Dr. McKendree M. Blair, college chaplain and Professor of Philosophy; Dr. C. Leplie Kanatzar, Professor of Biology; Milburn P. Akers, Editor, Chicago Sun-Times and Chairman of the presidential selection committee; William Fay, Jacksonville attorney; Mrs. Irma Gamble, 5182 Prospect Rd., Peoria; and Dr. Thomas B. Lugg, 729 Emerson, Evanston, Illinois.

Dr. Michalson, a Navy Commander in charge of a flight squadron in World War II, came to Garrett in 1958 after serving for six years as pastor of Westfield, N.J. Methodist Church, largest in New York City area. He was pastor of Montclair, N.J. Methodist Church for six years preceding that.

He was born in Waverly, Minnesota August 22, 1911, of Norwegian, German, and Swiss stock. His father, Carl D., was a country banker. The Michalsons lived also in Litchfield and Montrose, Minnesota before moving to Minneapolis in 1922.

After attending Junior and Senior high school there, Dr. Michalson worked for eight years - five with Sears, Roebuck & Co., and three with the Federal Land Bank in St. Paul. He was in the personnel and accounting department of Sears and in the treasurer's office of the land bank as a chattel mortgage clerk.

Barnstorming Pilot

In the meantime, he had learned to fly, logging some 600 hours before attending college. The future college president's first airplane was an OX-5 "Waco 9," with an axle landing gear. He was a barnstorming pilot who would land in fields near towns to take local citizenry aloft for a fee.

With $42, in his pocket ($26. which he applied towards tuition) and 15 hours' college credit gained from night courses, Dr. Michalson entered University of Minnesota in January, 1936. He graduated 18 months later, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in medieval and reformation history.

While pursuing his accelerated pace at the university, he was lay pastor in the Litchfield district of the Minnesota Methodist Conference, earning $400. annually. He held pastorates at Armstrong, Norwood, and Kimball churches, commuting from each where he lived on weekends and from his home in Minneapolis on weekdays.

After receiving his master of Arts degree at Minnesota in December, 1938, he continued into Drew Theological Seminary where he earned a Bachelor of Divinity degree in June, 1941.

While there, he was assistant pastor at Summit, N. J., Methodist Church, and pastor at Grace Methodist, East Orange, N. J.

It was at Summit that he met his wife, Louise Card, a Simmons College (Boston) graduate with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. Her elementary and high school education was gained at Kent Place School for Girls in Summit. Her career experience includes that of office manager for the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, and being Secretary to the vice president of an advertising agency in New York City.

Dr. Michalson entered the Navy in September, 1942, after one year's residence work in graduate school at Drew. Although he already possessed a civilian pilot's license, the Navy put him through its own training program at Dallas, Texas and New Orleans, Louisiana.

Flying Stearman "Yellow Perils", a single - engine bi-plane, he was assigned to Naval Air Station, Ottumwa, Ia., as flight instructor. He soon became commander of a squadron having 130 planes, 157 instructors, 120 enlisted men, and 600 flight students.

Former Pastor

Discharged in August, 1945, he returned to Drew where he received his doctorate in June, 1947. Before graduation, he was appointed pastor of Montclair, N. J. Methodist church in June, 1946.

Dr. Michalson established his record as an administrator while at the Montclair and Westfield churches, as he did in the Navy. He also obtained administrative experience as a member of the board of trustees, Centenary Junior College in New Jersey; the board of the Methodist Home for the Aged in Ocean Grove; Brooklyn Methodist Hospital Board, Brooklyn, N.Y.; and as member of a number of Methodist conference boards. He was Chairman of the Board of Pensions, Newark Annual Conference.

Now 48, Dr. Michalson will bring his ardent sports enthusiasm also to Jacksonville. He plays golf, hunts and fishes, and has a speed boat. He and Mrs. Michalson are parents of two children—a daughter, Kathryn Louise, 16, and a son, Gordon Elliott, Jr., 12. They will live at the President's home at 339 East State.

Comments on System

Commenting on MacMurray's co-ordinate system, he states that "co-ordinate education maintains the advantages of coeducation without its most obvious disadvantages. It ministers both to the academic needs and to the social requirements of men and women seeking a college education."

The MacMurray system provides for separate classes for men and women in freshman and sophomore years while combining them in the final two years. Campus activities also are separate, although students share social life.

"Separate campus activities," he declares, "give leadership opportunities to both sexes that would not otherwise be possible."

Dr. Michalson believes the role of education in the liberal arts tradition to be "to train people to think creatively, to distinguish between alternatives on the basis of permanent standards, and to communicate ideas and attitudes in competent speech and writing."

"The role of the Christian college like MacMurray," he continues, "is to set this within the framework of Christian faith and values."

"Education is to train men for living, not simply to make a living," he maintains. "It should develop skill at the level of personal wisdom, not in cleverness or in manipulating people."

"The world is full of people who are skilled," he says, "who are geniuses of ability detached from reliable wisdom and character."

Dr. Michalson's doctoral thesis was titled "Soren Kierkegaard and Friedrich von Hugel." His master's thesis: "The Social Aspects of the Anabaptists."

Thirteen of 22 MacMurray trustees were present for the meeting, constituting a quorum. They were: A. W. Applebee, Westwood Place, Jacksonville; William L. Fay, 1338 Mound Avenue; Grace Fitch, 513 W. Hold Ladies' Aid Meeting At Hamilton's

Members of the Berea Ladies' Aid met at Hamilton's Restaurant April 7. Mrs. Leslie Ankrom and Mrs. Gilbert McQueen served as hostesses. Mrs. Harold Stewart, president, called the meeting to order and read a verse of scripture.

The group sang "In The Garden." Mrs. Albert Nall had charge of devotions. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Richard Petefish. A new member, Mrs. Dean Simms, was welcomed into the aid.

It was decided that cookies or eggs would be taken to the Christian Home. Easter lillies are to be given to various families of Berea Church, the usual procedure. It was also decided that cards would be sent to members absent from meetings.

Roll call was answered by drawing for "sunshine friends." Mrs. Carroll Robinson conducted the program. She read "Wonder of Easter" and "April Poem." Mrs. Jesse Petefish read two poems, "An Easter Thought" and "Easter Prayer." A contest was won by Mrs. Petefish.

The meeting was closed by singing "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," and a prayer by Mrs. Albert Nall. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Gary Jackson and daughter were guests.

Use Airplane To Survey Flood In Pike And Greene

JERSEYVILLE — Meterman Claude Maguire of the Jerseyville police force and John Surgeon, manager of the Nugent and Schpanski orchards in the Grafton vicinity made an airplane survey of the flood waters in the immediate area of Jersey, Calhoun, Pike and Greene counties Tuesday afternoon.

Maguire reported they took a number of pictures or the flood situation over various localities. The trip was made in the Surgeon plane.

Dr. B. A. Marsden reported Tuesday that his farm land in the vicinity of the Sny Levee country of the Pike county area was hit by the flood and that his farm was mostly under water. The flood waters have also washed away the principal bridge in the locality of the Marsden farm.

Meditations for Lent

THE CHURCH, THE CROSS, AND THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE

BY THE REV. EDWIN T. DAHLBERG, D.D.

President of National Council of Churches of Christ in U.S.A.

(Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

If the Christian church is to be true to the good news of God in Jesus Christ it must from time to time speak out boldly on some of the great life-and-death issues of our time.

We make a serious mistake if we think that Jesus confined himself only to such matters as prayer, comfort, peace of mind, and the life everlasting. It is true that these aspects of his message loom large in the content of the four gospels: Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. We would not have it otherwise.

Who is there that has not stood in need of such words as "Thy sins be forgiven thee," and "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me"?

These are immortal words, to be enshrined in the human heart forever. The religion of Jesus will always be a supremely personal faith.

But it has its public connotations also. The critic who says of churches and preachers, "Why don't you stay out of politics, economics and international affairs, and stick to the gospel?" has a very limited view of the Christ.

HE IS REPEATING THE MISTAKE of Adolf Hitler, who said to Pastor Martin Niemoeller when the latter protested against Hitler's treatment of the Jews, "You take care of your own business, which is getting people into heaven, and I will take care of people while they are here on earth."

Dictators always want the average citizen to leave things to the experts, political, military, or otherwise. But Christianity treats with respect the views of the common man.

If we study the New Testament intelligently we shall find that what really sent Jesus to the cross was his outspoken views on public affairs.

Among these were the questions concerning the Jewish-Samaritan segregation issue, the payment of the temple tax, the observance of the Sabbath laws, the limitations on the Roman conscription laws, and the status of the Gentiles in the kingdom of God.

What the Man of Galilee had to say about these issues was what infuriated his opponents, with the result that they delivered him up to Pilate on the charge that he was a subversive, plotting the overthrow of Caesar.

HIS FOLLOWERS FOLLOWED HIS BRAVE EXAMPLE. Thus we have in the Jerusalem conference of the early church, as described in the 15th chapter of the book of Acts, a carefully worded report that was adopted by the church leaders present.

It defined four important issues affecting the life of the church: the sex standards of the new faith, its dietary regulations, and its attitude toward idolatry, as well as towards the admission of Gentiles into the church without observance of the Mosaic law.

Today we are tempted to say, "But those were spiritual matters." True! But they were the hotly debated public issues of that day.

It was because the New Testament Christians gladly risked their name and reputation for the sake of Jesus Christ that we have our heritage of religious liberty today.

God forbid that we should be entangled again in the yoke of bondage, when for freedom did Christ make us free. Christians of the 20th century are called upon to speak in the same bold, ringing tones as did the believers in the 1st century.

Such questions as world peace, universal disarmament, the ending of the bomb tests, and the equality of all races before God, are the life and death issues of our generations.

THE CHURCH DARE NOT BE SIMPLY THE ECHO of the Pentagon, the state department, the Chamber of Commerce, the labor unions, or any other group or institution. It must speak with a voice of its own—a voice that will have in it the authoritative message of the Word of God.

Dr. Harold Cooke Phillips, recently retired pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cleveland, was completely right in saying to a ministers' conference in the state of New York:

"When Jesus told his followers that they were to be the light of the world, he did not mean that they were to be the tail light!"

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

It seems that every day we hear someone say "it was Greek to me" or talk about "my own flesh and blood." These time-honored phrases and ones like them crop up every day in our conversations. And since they're being used all the time, they seem to be modern expressions. Well, to "give the devil his due," they're not. And neither is that one. All three, and many more, date all the way back to Shakespeare. He used the "Greek" phrase way back in 1599 in "Julius Caesar."

"Flesh and blood" dates back to "The Merchant of Venice" in 1596. The "devil" phrase was used by Shakespeare for "Henry IV" in 1597. And the next time you talk about a "green-eyed monster," or "elbow room," or "a fool's paradise," you'll be quoting Shakespeare, too. Seems as if no matter how we tread the "primrose path" of conversation, it's a "forgone conclusion" that we'll meet Shakespeare somewhere along the way.

In Albuquerque, one Navajo took a shot at another, then explained, "He was going to turn himself into a snake and bite me!" Guess that would "rattle" anybody. Anybody looking for the best in used cars need look no further. We hope someday to sell a new Chrysler, Plymouth or Valiant to each of our used car customers; that alone assures you of satisfaction when you buy your used car from us. E. W. Brown, 406 South Main. TWO UNUSUAL WAYS TO MAKE SIX

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Today's little gem was sent me by my old friend, Harrison Smith of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who wrote, "I was pleased with the six club bid, but really shocked when my partner discarded a spade from my hand instead of ruffing the opening diamond lead.

"He won the second trick with the ace of spades, drew trumps with two leads and then attacked the heart suit. When the heart suit broke four-one, the wisdom of his play became apparent. He ruffed the fourth heart high; got back to dummy with the last trump and the last two hearts were good."

Strangely enough, South had another unusual way to make the contract. He could have ruffed the opening diamond in dummy, drawn a few rounds of trumps for practice and then led a low spade. Either opponent could win and lead anything. South would simply win the trick and run off the rest of the trumps. On the last trump lead West would be squeezed out of a spade or a heart and South would make his slam that way.

I call both plays unusual, but it should be routine for any top player to try one of them. He should realize that he had reached a mighty fine slam and make every effort to make it even though this effort involved giving up a chance for an overtrick.

A—Bid four hearts. Unless your partner is a chronic overbidder you should have a very good play for game. Remember, your two heart bid promised nothing.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of raising you to three hearts your partner has bid two no-trump. What do you do now?

60th Annual Report

AP Tells Of Increased Attention To Meaning Behind World Events

NEW YORK (AP) — The Associated Press has expanded enterprise activity in many news fields, Frank J. Starzel, AP general manager, said today in the worldwide news cooperative's 60th annual report.

He said this activity "responded to the ever-growing demands by newspapers and broadcasters for more reporting-in-depth, more analysis of significance in events and trends, and wider portrayal in human interest or 'people to people' terms."

The report, for the year 1959, was mailed to AP members in advance of the AP annual meeting to be held April 25 in New York.

Starzel said that each year seems to outdo the previous in the complexities of reliably reporting the world news and that 1959 "repeatedly imposed upon your organization multiple tests of efficiency, ingenuity and competence."

"The Associated Press staff acquitted itself magnificently throughout the 12 months," he said. "The inevitable failures and disappointments were few indeed; the outstanding performances were numerously gratifying.

"It was a year during which there was a heavy premium—with rewarding returns—on conspicuously sound organizing for the coverage of top stories such as President Eisenhower's Asian-European-African tour, Khrushchev's visit to the United States, and the prolonged multi-faceted steel strike."

Starzel said "staff teamwork and brilliant individual craftsmanship scored repeated triumphs under some of the most extraordinary working pressures ever experienced."

Starzel said bold new ideas were implemented in t g were implemented in the AP's delivery or transmission system.

"Spectacular new techniques in high-speed wire service are achieving important operating gains for newspaper members," he said.

"A new financial service heads this advance, integrating four high-speed Teletypesetter circuits in simultaneous operation."

Noting that 1959 marked the 25th birthday of Wirephoto, Starzel said that "a record of 537 members served directly on the Wirephoto network was established."

"Ninety-one others subscribed to other types of Wirephoto service," he said.

He reported that 1,778 publications were represented in AP membership, a gain of 15, and said "memberships representing radio and television stations increased to 2,042, compared to 1,878 at the close of 1958."

At Photo School

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Learning to be a professional photographer is an intriguing and involved task, according to Wayne Herring of Jacksonville, Ill., who enrolled last month in the Brooks Institute of Photography at Santa Barbara.

"Before entering Brooks I never realized the great amount of technical knowledge and creative ability required before one can qualify as a professional photographer by modern standards," he said.

Herring, a graduate of Jacksonville High School and an electrician for eight years, is studying at Brooks under the 28 month professional program. He is the son of Keith Herring, 640 S. Prairie street.

Clowns To Decide Best Masques

Personalities within themselves the judges exhort confidence to the timid to manifest his or her hidden talent by entering the contest. The gifted must also join ranks by offering a polished professional touch to the gay endeavor.

Judging will be done during the Coronation Ceremonies to be held at the Jacksonville High School gymnasium, getting underway at 8:15 o'clock.

The festive evening will open with the crowning of the 1960 Beaux Arts Queen. Entertainment will be provided throughout the program which will follow a Circus theme.

AGE DISCRIMINATION

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — It's against the law in Connecticut to advertise for a "young" worker in newspaper classified columns.

The state Civil Rights Commission recently held that when a firm specifies how old its prospective employes should be, it is discriminating against older workers.

The penalty is risk of unfair practices charge.

Fourth Graders Plan Trip To Springfield

The fourth grade of Jefferson Elementary School is one of several groups that has been invited by the State Department of Public Instruction to furnish a twenty-seven minute program as a part of a State wide public relations project. Nineteen children and three teachers will go by school bus to Springfield next Tuesday afternoon to present the program they have prepared. All of the children in the fourth grade at Jefferson have had an active part in the preparation of materials for this program, although only a small group will actually present it. Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Elizabeth Trotter, fourth grade teachers, and Mr. Buck, principal, will accompany the children.

The program will be a description of the work that the fourth grade children in all the elementary schools in District 117 do in their social studies classes. Not all of the things shown in this program will be used by every class each year, but everything shown, plus many others, is used at one time or another by children in fourth grade social studies.

The basic program for fourth grade social studies was planned by the fourth grade teachers a few years ago. Each teacher, working from this basic outline, then varies the content and experience to fit the needs and abilities of each child and each group. We are proud to be able to present this program, not only to the Jacksonville area, but also to the entire Springfield area. This is the second program chosen from School District 117. The first was a science program presented by students from the Turner Junior High School.

This program will be presented over Channel 20 Springfield at 5:26 p.m. Tuesday, April 12.

Pirates Sign Baker; Climax Comeback Battle

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Gene Baker, crippled by a freak knee injury in 1958, climaxed an almost two-year comeback battle Friday by signing a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The 34-year-old infielder—he'll be 35 in June—thought he was through after the injury in St. Louis. Baker moved in from third to field a bunt, fell and injured his left knee.

Baker had the knee in the cast for three months and nobody thought he could play again. The club gave him a job as a scout and some work instructing infielders in the minors.

Less than two months ago he didn't figure in the Pirates plans for the 1960 season.

Then one of the scouts, Paul Tretriak, told Baker about Dr. Jay Bender at Southern Illinois University.

Baker went to Carbondale, Ill., last January, and Dr. Bender gave him some exercises with weights, wires and pulleys to strengthen the weak knee.

In less than a month, Baker was down at the training camp working out.

"The toughest job of coming back was conditioning," says Baker. "After a year and a half it can be rough."

Approve Classic Class For ABC

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The controversial proposal to create a classic division in the American Bowling Congress Tournament was approved Friday by a voice vote of tournament delegates.

The ABC Tournament Committee proposed the amendment as a means of separating professional and subsidized bowlers from those who bowl primarily as a hobby.

The committee felt that the number of bowlers who earn their livelihood from the game now is great enough to form a separate division. It was not announced when the change will be effective.

The Pittsburgh Pirates' Elroy Face recorded the highest winning percentage in major league history during 1959 with a record of 18 victories and one loss. His percentage—.947.

Baseball Writers Pick San Francisco, Chicago Tops In Respective Leagues

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the San Francisco Giants for the National League pennant—with the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers running no better than third—and the Chicago White Sox to repeat in the American by a 2-1 choice in the Associated Press annual pre-season poll.

More than half of the 169 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America who took part in the balloting, compiled Friday, put the Giants on top in the National League. The Giants, who finished third last season, drew 85 first place votes, compared to 61 for the Milwaukee Braves and a mere 13 for the defending champion Dodgers.

On a point basis, giving eight points for first place, seven for second, etc. the Giants totaled 1,231, Milwaukee 1,192 and Los Angeles 1,051.

The White Sox, who won their first pennant since 1919 last season, picked up 84 first place votes to 41 for the runner-up Cleveland Indians. New York, with 36 firsts, and Detroit, with seven firsts, were placed third and fourth, duplicating the AL's first division finish of last year.

The White Sox totaled 1,229 points, Cleveland 1,133, New York 1,108 and Detroit 828.

The eight-team poll alignment for the National: 1-San Francisco, 2-Milwaukee, 3-Los Angeles, 4-Pittsburgh, 5-Cincinnati, 6-St. Louis, 7-Chicago Cubs, 8-Philadelphia.

In the AL it was: 1-Chicago White Sox, 2-Cleveland, 3-New York, 4-Detroit, 5-Baltimore, 6-Kansas City, 7-Boston, 8-Washington.

Milwaukee, which finished second in a 1959 pennant playoff with Los Angeles, had a comfortable 66-47 edge over the Dodgers in second place votes. The Dodgers, after an unprecedented jump from seventh place (in 1958) to the world championship, drew almost half of their votes (81) at the third place level.

No ballot listed the Giants lower than fourth. Two had Milwaukee as low as fifth. Two others placed the Dodgers sixth.

In the AL, one ballot listed the White Sox fifth. Two had the Indians fifth, and six ranked the Yankees that low.

Last year's poll selected Milwaukee in the NL and the Yankees in the AL. The Dodgers then drew six first place votes, but were ranked fifth, while the White Sox were given only seven firsts and were placed third.

Night Life

NEW YORK —(NEA)— Some people never give up.

Irving Silverman, New York attorney, sailed for Paris to obtain the United State franchise from the Union Cyclist International for promoting six-day bike racing. He represents the International Cycling Corporation of which James A. Proscia is president and promoter.

The venture may bring back a form of night life as it existed in a big way at Madison Square Garden and elsewhere in this country up to 30 years ago.

So it may not be true, as one wag remarked during the grind's golden days, that it would be a great race if it were on a straightway.

Pittsfield Takes Beardstown 13-9

PITTSFIELD — The Pittsfield baseball squad held off a two run six inning bid by the Beardstown players Friday to claim a 13-9 Mid-West Conference win. The Pike county boys took the lead in the third inning and were never in serious trouble from there on out, although Beardstown continued to be a threat right through to the final inning. Following the Beardstown bid in the sixth, they remained scoreless throughout the final inning.

Both teams have good prospects for the future since this was their first game for the season.

BATTERIES: Pittsfield, Zimmerman, Haskins (5), Saxbury (6). C—McGinnis and St. Gemme. Beardstown, Robertson. C—Kirchner. W—Zimmerman, L—Robertson.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

Beardstown:	003	312	0—	9
Pittsfield:	203	350	x—	13

OUTFIELD SOD ANYONE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Anybody want two square feet of the outfield from the New York Polo Grounds?

It was flown here to be transplanted at the San Francisco Giants' new stadium, Candlestick Park. But Groundskeeper Matty Schwab decided planting the Polo Grounds sod might cause weeds.

That leaves two square feet of Manhattan real estate a long way from home.

TRUE BEACON

Co-sponsor Drops Contract After Snead Incident

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The Sam Snead TV-golf match incident broke out on another front Friday when one of the co-sponsors of the nationally televised "World Championship Golf" announced it had cancelled its contract.

The incident appeared closed as far as Snead and the Professional Golfers Assn. were concerned with an apology from Snead and statement from the PGA that it will police future television golf shows.

But in New York, the A.S.R. Products Corp., makers of safety razors, issued a statement saying it was cancelling out of the program carried by NBC.

The company said "it learned only Thursday through press reports that one of the contestants in the match telecast last Sunday stated that he was not playing to win. The contestant's statement was not told to A.S.R. by the network. If A.S.R. or its advertising agency had known of this before broadcast time it would have not agreed to its sponsorship as presented with disclosure of circumstances to the public."

NBC officials were not available for comment.

The PGA formally white-washed Snead of any moral wrongs but said it didn't "condone his actions."

Snead said he was "sorry—it was just an honest mistake" and emphasized: "I wouldn't throw a golf match for any amount of money."

The incident involved a third round match in the TV series which Snead acknowledged he had to lose after finding an extra—and illegal—club in his bag.

The match, filmed in Bermuda in December and shown last Sunday was won by Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., 71-70, after Snead four-putted the 16th hole and three-putted the 18th.

Snead said he felt he had to keep from winning the match after finding an extra club—an unused wood—in his bag at the 12th hole. He said he didn't disqualify himself immediately but went ahead with the match lest he spoil the show.

Wisconsin Stops N. Illinois, 21-5

DEKALB, Ill. (AP) — Back-to-back homers by Dick Stivers and Jim Bakken helped the University of Wisconsin defeat Northern Illinois 21-5 Friday in baseball.

Stivers' drive came with two men on. Wisconsin collected 13 hits and committed one error. Northern had 5 hits and 3 errors.

Rough Going

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—(NEA)—At least one person close to boxing was not surprised at the wave of losses by American pugilists in South America.

Archie Moore, the light-heavyweight champion, says he reads with "great alarm but no surprise" the news that Davey Moore, the featherweight champ, had his jaw broken in Caracas.

"It didn't come as a shock to me because I know those fighters in South America, haveing been there," says ancient Archie.

"They train frantically. They have developed several fine fighters who now want to be recognized."

BECOMES A REDLEG

CINCINNATI (AP)—Tony Gonzales, short but powerful outfielder who has been somewhat of a sensation in spring training, became a Cincinnati Red Friday.

General Manager Gabe Paul bought his contract from Havana of the International League. The chances are that he will be in right field in the opening game of the National League season next Tuesday.

Gonzalez, 23, has been working out with the Reds all spring. He got 22 hits in 72 times at bat for a .306 average.

IN HONOR OF OLYMPICS

SAN REMO, Italy (AP) — A competition among 180 European bartenders came up Friday with a highball recipe using bourbon whisky.

It's called the Marathon, in honor of the Olympics.

The recipe: Seven parts bourbon, two parts peach juice, one part lemon juice—plus a leaf of mint and five wild strawberries, all shaken slightly and served with ice in a glass decorated with orange or lemon slices.

SLUGGER AT 18

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— Of the 39 "first-year" players on major league rosters this spring, one of the most impressive is John (Boog) Powell, 18, a slugging first baseman with Baltimore.

Powell hit 14 homers in 56 games with Bluefield, W. Va., last year.

"It doesn't matter much who pitches," says Oriole manager Paul Richards.

Powell, a bonus player, was born in Lakeland, Fla., but lives in Key West. He's 6-foot-3 and bats left-handed.

MET HIS MASTER

ST. PAUL (AP) — Del Flanagan, veteran St. Paul welterweight, says he thought he could hold, hug and wrestle with the best in the world—until he met Phil Edwards in London.

Flanagan and Edwards were disqualified in the seventh round for illegal tactics and failure to fight.

"He could even step on toes and use his thumbs better than I," said Flanagan.

WYOMING LEMON GROWER

YOU'RE OUT!—Bill Mazeorski of the Pittsburgh Pirates was out at the plate when Catcher Bob Oldis grounded to the Chicago White Sox' Gene Freese at Payne Park in Sarasota, Fla. The ball ricocheted off the third baseman's body and shortstop Luis Aparicio recovered it and threw to Sherman Lollar. Umpire Joe Paparella makes the decision emphatic.

No. 3 doubles: Busche and Hildner (J) defeated Strong and Turner (W), 6-1, 6-1.

Team totals: Jacksonville 9, Western 0.

ENTHUSIASM IS HIGH

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Despite skepticism in some quarters, part-owner Wheelock Whitney, Jr., of the proposed Minneapolis-St. Paul team in the Continental Baseball League says the league definitely will be in operation in 1961.

"The enthusiasm among league officials is high and I know the public will take to the new league once they see what we're trying to do," he said.

Fight Results

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Bartolo Soni ended Lamar Clark's consecutive knockout string at 44 Friday night by stopping Clark in the ninth round of a brutal, bloody fight.

Soni, 181½-pound Dominican Republic boxer, dropped Clark at two minutes, two seconds of the round with a series of right and left hooks. Clark's head bounced on the canvas as he landed. Referee Ken Shulsen immediately called a halt, although Clark was up and staggering seconds later.

The bout had been scheduled to go 10 rounds.

Clark, 182 pounds, of Cedar City, Utah, floored Soni near the end of the fifth round with a right uppercut that started from his tops. It rocked Soni on his heels before he hit the canvas. He was up by the count of eight.

Clark was ahead on points when the surprise ending came in the televised scrap. The bull-shoulder-ed Soni connected with almost a desperation combination and Clark hit the canvas hard.

A Utah boxing official explained the fight will go into the books as a knockout victory for Soni because Clark officially was counted out.

Clark led on all three judges' cards in the eighth. The Associated Press had it 79-73 for Clark at that point.

VAN BROCKLIN SIGNS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Norm van Brocklin, star quarterback of the Philadelphia Eagles, Friday signed for his 12th season in the National Football League.

Although salary was not disclosed it is believed Van Brocklin, 34, will receive in excess of $20,000.

THE STORY: The holiday season takes the minds of the Holmes family from troubles of their friends. Mark and Rose are completely happy as they approach middle age. Their children Debbie and Tim are growing up.

• • •

VI

When the holidays were over and the boys had left, Debbie came sedately into her mother's room and said carelessly, "Olaf's asked me to the spring dance."

"That's nice," said Rose, watching her child drape herself over a chair, "but you're a little young."

"Lots of girls go at 16, and I'll be 17, just before," Debbie reminded her. She had an astonishing dimple under her left eye; actually it was a tiny, star-shaped scar, a memento of the time she'd fallen on the ice. She added, "I never did thank you really for the formal. It's heavenly."

"It becomes you, but it won't do for the Prom? Is that what you're trying to say?"

"Well, really Mother," said Debbie, pained, "the fashions always change in the spring!"

Maybe, thought Rose, I'd better start putting dimes in the pig against fashion changes.

Mark was still talking about a cruise as he had been ever since last month. "And don't bring up Debbie as an obstacle," he said. "I had a brilliant idea on the train tonight."

"Not Aunt Gwen?"

"Exactly."

"Debbie would have a fit."

"Let her. Parents have some rights, all evidence to the contrary. It's in the Constitution: life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. You and I are going on a cruise, unless, of course, you feel we should go out and see Ruth?"

Rose shook her head. Ruth, Rose's mother, 23 years her senior, was in excellent health. Half the time she wasn't home, anyway; she and Rose's stepfather traveled where and whenever it occurred to them.

There was no question of asking Mark's sister, Lou, to come North; she was needed in Florida —by her father, who, physically vigorous and wildly demanding, was steadily slipping into senility.

"All right, Aunt Gwen it is," Rose decided. "I'm certain she'd come and I can't think of anything more wonderful than going off with you, alone."

• • •

Rose was a Christmas person, so she annually consulted budgets, threw them out the window, and went shopping from Thanksgiving on. They'd had a big tree ever since they moved to the country. It was cut from their land and set up in the sun porch. Everyone hung stockings. They had people in Christmas Eve, and family Christmas day. This would be their first year without Rose's mother; she and her husband were going to the Caribbean.

"I'll miss her," Rose said, "she's so much fun. . . . But she deserves a life of her own. When I think how she slaved to drag me up by the pigtails!"

Rose's mother was a trained nurse and had, in the tradition, married a doctor. Doctors in small Midwestern towns don't—or didn't then—make much money. So when Rose's father died, Ruth had gone back to work and her older sister, Gwen, had come to live with her.

Rose loved her mother, but did not feel close to her; this happens, even when you love someone. But from the time Rose's father died until she married Mark, leaving college to do so, she'd not been a great deal with her mother. "Where's Mother?" she'd ask and Aunt Gwen would say, "Ruth is on a case, dear."

Sometimes the case was in the nearby hospital, sometimes in a home, but Ruth appeared only on hours off. Yet she exercised both influence and discipline, and knew, also, how to play. When she could take a holiday, Aunt Gwen took one, too; and Rose and her mother went off together —somewhere different, exciting, inexpensive. Often Rose wondered why she and Ruth hadn't been close; the situation, apart from Ruth's physical absences, would tend to draw them together. She did not reach a conclusion until after her marriage and the birth of her own children. She spoke to Mark about it, after his mother died.

"You and your mother were very close," she said.

"Yes." He'd looked at her and asked, "You're thinking of yourself and Ruth?"

• • •

"Of course. I do love her, Mark, and she loves me; also, we respect each other. So I've wondered why—it couldn't be because she worked; thousands of women work and surely I didn't resent it?"

"Stop reading books, darling, and listening to your more affluent friends, fresh from the confessional couch."

"All right. Aunt Gwen used to tell me how much in love my mother and father were. I couldn't imagine it. I thought of anyone over 14 as practically senile and love strictly for birds, bees and teen agers. Now, I know it was true and I believe I was not compensation for her, but that work was, in a way, beyond the necessity for it."

He had asked then, "Would our children compensate you?"

Rose had nearly jumped out of her skin. "Of course, not," she'd answered instantly, and then, looked at him, stricken. "I don't sound like much of a mother," she'd added ruefully, "and I wish you wouldn't say such things, Mark."

"I was only asking. Maybe you are more like your mother than you realize."

Survivors include his wife, Aura; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Welteran of Springfield; a brother, Hervil of Waterloo, Ia.; six grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren. A son, Herbert, preceded him in death.

Mr. Pierce lived in Ashland most of his life. He was a member of the Ashland Baptist Church. He was a retired employe of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. in Springfield and a retired mail carrier.

Funeral services will be held at the Gainer Funeral Home at 3 p.m. Sunday. Rev. Wayne Brackett, pastor of the Ashland Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Ashland cemetery.

Rynders Property Sold At Auction Totals $110,321

Twelve tracts of farm lands in Morgan and Macoupin counties, formerly the farms of the late William I. Rynders of Waverly, were sold at public auction Friday afternoon at the south door of the Morgan county court house.

The property was offered separately and in various combinations. Bidding was quick and to the point, prompted in part by a brisk spring breeze. The sale started at 2 o'clock and concluded at 3:30.

Successful bidders were: Albert Rynders of Waverly, tracts 1, 4, 5, 8 and 9, total of 211 acres for $77.00 per acre.

Merle and Duane Stone of Waverly, tract 2, 80 acres for $121 per acre.

Earl Rynders of Waverly, tract 3, a school house, $3,500; tract 6, 160 acres for $116 per acre; tract 7, 80 acres for $112 per acre.

Jesse and Alice Graves of Waverly, tract 11, a school house, $340.

Dr. O. E. Thompson of Waverly, tract 12, 80 acres for $376.50 per acre.

Middendorf Brothers were the auctioneers for the sale: Theodore C. Rammelkamp acted as special master in chancery.
